Russian Forces In Smashing Advance Through Romania

Armored Soviet Forces Drive Relentlessly Toward Romanian Capital Of Bucharest

DIPLOMATIC MOVES IGNORED BY ARMY

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Aug. 25.—Russian armies slashed ahead through Romanian territory today, battering back retreating Nazi defenders after seizing Chisinau (Kishinev), capital of Moldavia. Armored Soviet spearheads drove relentlessly toward the Romanian capital of Bucharest, the rich Ploesti oil fields, and Galati in a lightning advance through the low country between the Prut and Siret rivers as Russian fighters near the Denster smashed into Chisinau.

The Soviet armies sped forward toward their military objectives to-day, ignoring the diplomatic and political maneuvers which followed the announcement by King Michael that Romania had quit the Axis and would accept Soviet peace terms.

Red Triumphs

Two special orders of the day from Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin signaled the triumphs of Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's and Gen. Fedor I. Tolbukhin's second and third Ukrainian armies.

The first order, addressed to both commanders, disclosed the capture of Chisinau, while the second, addressed to Malinovsky, revealed Russian occupation of Roman, Barlad, Husi, and Bacau.

Roman, a Carpathian railroad junction center lies 36 miles southwest of Iasi (Jassy). Barlad is an important road and rail center 28 miles south of Valui, which was taken Wednesday by Soviet troops. Husi, 15 miles east of Vaslui, reported captured today.

PA NEWC Observes

With Labor Day week end holiday period coming up shortly, Col. K. Monroe Johnson, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, at Washington, has asked civilians to abandon plans for Labor Day travel on trains or buses unless their trips are directly connected with the war.

Weather conditions were quite in contrast with a week ago, early this morning. Thermometers in the city registered around 46 and 47 degrees, the coolest morning of the summer.

A flock of sparrows which had taken over in the public square yesterday, appeared to be exceptionally tame. The birds failed to take fright at pedestrians or traffic in the square.

Gladioli lovers have again come into their own. Hundreds of flower gardens around the county are now in full bloom.

Fall is approaching. Pa Newc noted a man walking along Mercer street this morning, who was wearing a top coat.

Two-Way Attacks On Nazi Targets

LONDON, Aug. 25.—(INS)—Allied bombers crossed the East Anglian coast in a steady stream for half an hour today as the German radio reported two-way attacks against Nazi targets.

(A Nazi broadcast heard by the Federal Communications Commission said that advance units of an Allied bomber formation from the south were over Upper Silesia, while another formation was over Schleswig-Holstein and the Baltic Sea "on its way toward the east.")

Gen. DeGaulle Is Given Authority For French Rule

Agreement Signed By British And American Governments On French Civil Rule

GEN. EISENHOWER REPRESENTS U. S.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—While Gen. Charles DeGaulle was making plans to enter Paris, an agreement was signed today by the British and American governments giving him national committee complete authority to administer French civil affairs.

The signing was done in London, and was announced simultaneously in London and Washington. Observers noted that the joint announcement avoided reference to the DeGaulle group by either of its known names—French committee of national liberation or provisional government of the French republic.

Instead, the statement spoke of "the French authorities at Algiers" as being "de facto authority in France so long as they continue to receive the support of the majority of Frenchmen who are fighting for the defeat of Germany and the liberation of France."

DeGaulle's victory. It was clear, however, that the agreement signed today represented a victory for Gen. DeGaulle, who has been trying for months to get the British and American governments to put something on paper regarding authority in civil affairs in France.

It was this controversy which led to DeGaulle's visit to Washington (Continued on Page Two)

New Turn In Hotel Murder Case Mystery

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—(INS)—The fiction-like Drake hotel murder case cracked wide open again today as a Chicago police rookie faced a new lie detector test to weigh the value of evidence placing the slaying weapon in the young policeman's home.

Convict Walter Brown, serving a life sentence in Stateville prison at Joliet, Ill., for another homicide, said today he once possessed the 38 caliber Iver Johnson revolver with which a mysterious woman in black murdered Mrs. Adele Born Williams in room 836 of the Drake on the night of last Jan. 19.

He insisted under repeated grilling that during January, 1933, he left the ancient weapon, which was to end Mrs. Williams' life a decade later, in a bureau drawer at the Chicago home of his life-time friend, Adolph A. Valanis.

Valanis, a policeman since November, 1943, faced Brown in a room at Stateville early today and flatly denied that he was true although admitting that as a gun collector he had received other weapons from Brown.

Significance of the convict's story was etched by the fact that Valanis is a brother of Mrs. Ellen Bennett, key clerk at the Drake on the murder night, author of an attempted holdup in the Suburban Park Ridge in 1939, and one-time principal suspect in the Williams case.

She was sought today to be questioned again.

Yugoslavia, Greece And Albania Now Problem For Hitler

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially For International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The southeastern corner of Hitler's fortress Europe springs violently into the spotlight of the news.

The western, southern and eastern walls of that fortress have been breached beyond repair. Now the bastions of the most important corner are crumbling.

However, it is well to examine conditions carefully in Albania, Greece, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary. At this time we have no need for premature conclusions or unfounded rumors.

By all the rules of logic, Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary must want to get out of this war and remove themselves as Axis satellites. They know that the longer they remain Allied with Hitler, the more severe will be the punishment delivered to them by the United Nations.

Traps For Hitler's Legions
Yugoslavia, Albania and Greece were forced under the yoke of Nazi domination. Throughout the war their partisans have been actively fighting against the forces of oppression. It would be the irony of fate if those three countries should all develop into great traps for the legions of Hitler. And just that could easily happen.

Nazi Generals Are Captured

Two Taken At Marseille And Two Others Are Reported Trapped

STREET FIGHTING IS IN EVIDENCE

By LARRY NEWMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MARSEILLE, Aug. 25.—Two German generals already have been captured in Marseille and two others are known to be trapped today inside garrisons which still are holding out.

The generals were the principal catch taken along with four majors, two captains and 600 other Germans at a large villa west of Marseille by the French when the escape route of the enemy was cut off by the Americans.

The latest gap brings the total of German generals taken in the south to five. American forces already having captured three.

The total of prisoners taken at Marseille now amounts to more than 5,000, with at least 3,000 or 4,000 more to be rounded up.

Marseille still is no place to be wandering around without good reason. Armed bands of all parties still are involved in action.

Vichyites, and even casual collaborators with the Germans, are being tracked down by patriots. If gendarmes make the capture first, speedy trials are held and executions follow.

Street Fights
Five pro-German leaders died yesterday and others were trapped in a barricaded hotel.

Street fights occur everywhere, with the French battling both the Germans and followers of Vichy. Marseille also is a city of wild ruid (Continued on Page Two)

It was deemed inadvisable to remove him to the hospital at Camp Reynolds at the present time. The others injured were Miss Mary Elizabeth Pownall, aged 20 years, of 325 Hilton street, Youngstown, O.; dislocation of right collarbone, and Mrs. Marguerite Shields, aged 28 years, 569 Warren avenue, Youngstown, O.

According to the story told Pennsylvania motor police, they were en route from Camp Reynolds to Youngstown, but were said to have lost their way. Vohl, who suffered but minor injuries, was able to return to camp.

Allied Forces In Southern France Liberate Cannes

French Troops Tighten Grip On Big Naval Base Of Toulon

TOWN OF GRASSE IS ALSO TAKEN

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Aug. 25.—Allied forces in southern France have liberated the famous seashore resort city of Cannes, 29 miles from the Italian border, and the town of Grasse, 10 miles northeast of Cannes. Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson's headquarters announced today.

French troops meanwhile tightened their grip on the big naval base of Toulon, occupying the arsenal inside the city and the town of Alloules to the northwest, but the enemy was still stiffly resisting in the port area.

In liberated Marseille, mopping up of the port area by the Allies continued, the commune said.

Over 20,000 Prisoners
The toll of prisoners taken by Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's U. S. 7th Army in the past nine days has swelled to more than 20,000.

An American spearhead pushing northwest of Marseille has reached a point ten miles east of Arles on the Rhone river, while other Allied columns had made progress north and south of Salon, 27 miles northwest of Marseille.

American occupation of Cannes and Grasse represented a gain of five miles northwest along the Riviera coast from previous American positions.

German resistance along the Mediterranean coast continued stiff at Toulon, with street fighting still continuing in Marseille.

A headquarters spokesman revealed that the capture of Grenoble was accomplished by an American flying column, including armored units, which operated well ahead of the main American forces. The flying column smashed north to Grenoble in a spectacular advance from Drugguignan, 120 miles to the south.

Grenoble was reported to be occupied firmly by American troops and Maquis forces.

Legislation Introduced To Establish U. S. Administrative Court Of Justice

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Rep. Howard W. Smith (D) Va., chairman of the house committee investigating executive agencies, introduced legislation today establishing a United States administrative court of justice.

The bill, submitted after extensive study by the committee, is intended to simplify the appeal and review procedures of governmental administrative agencies.

"If the citizens of the country are to have any protection whatever from the arbitrary actions of those in charge of the executive agencies of the government," declared Smith, "congress must enact proper legislation so that they may assert their rights in the proper courts of the land."

Sees Need for Reform
"I believe that the need for this reform is self-evident. It is a fundamental tenet of our governmental system that a judiciary be separate and independent of other departments of the framework of government."

Gather up every scrap of old newspaper, magazines, and cardboard around the house. Bundle them separately in bundles not exceeding 100 pounds each.

Late Bulletin Indicates German Forces In City May Be Subdued

U. S. SUPPORT IS GIVEN TO FRENCH

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, Aug. 25.—American, British and French troops are in Paris and have liberated the city, a direct broadcast from radio Paris said today.

The broadcast, heard by NBC, said that some German snipers still have to be cleaned out.

By J. LYNN LEONARD
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

The real battle for Paris was fought today along historic boulevards of the French capital after Allied armor smashed its way into the city from the vicinity of Versailles.

The possibility that Paris in truth is free except for the mopping up of last-ditch points of resistance was indicated in a late bulletin quoting an American correspondent at headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as saying the liberation of Paris by French and American forces now "is a fact."

Radio accounts given over a transmitter controlled by the French forces of the interior told of bitter struggles inside the first city of France throughout the day. Hourly accounts related that the French and Allied forces made steady progress in the final struggle to oust the Hun.

Nelson's Future Status Up In Air

President Declines To Answer Questions As To Nelson's Future Status

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—President Roosevelt today left squarely up in the air the future of Donald Nelson as head of the War Production board when he returns from his mission to China.

Mr. Roosevelt, at his new conference, declined to answer questions as to Nelson's future when he returns from China. However, he left some doubt in the minds of those present as to whether Nelson would continue as head of WPB.

The President merely pointed out, an answer to questions that Nelson is leaving today for China on what he termed a very important mission.

"Will Mr. Nelson resume his post as WPB chairman when he returns?" the President was asked.

Mr. Roosevelt replied that he considered the question a very "ifty" one.

Then the President said that Nelson is still chairman of WPB. On top of that statement the President then, with some emphasis in his voice, reminded his listeners that an acting chairman goes into Nelson's job today.

Oh these are the days of the corn roast when the ears are juicy and sweet and these are the nights when the corn goes fast, for roasting ears are a treat. Take a bundle of ham or some wieners, some butter and salad and then, you butter the corn and you munch the dogs and come back for a helping again. And pity the lad with a toothache or one with an upper plate, he has to look with an envious eye, and moun at his unlucky fate. Oh sing a song of the corn roasts, and remind me to think of the date when another roast will be held outdoors, the weather is seventy-eight.

COMMISSIONERS ORDER CHANGE AT COUNTY HOME

Direct Termination Of Services Of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Snyder September 15

By action of the county commissioners taken today at their meeting in the county home, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Snyder, former superintendents of the county home and presently serving in a minor capacity in the home, are to leave the service of the county on September 15.

The resolution ordering them to vacate the home on September 15 was offered by County Commissioner Joseph P. Travers and seconded by Commissioner Earl R. Wimer. On the vote Travers and Wimer voted yes and Commissioner Karl T. Rohrer voted no.

The resolution ordering them to vacate the home on September 15 was offered by County Commissioner Joseph P. Travers and seconded by Commissioner Earl R. Wimer. On the vote Travers and Wimer voted yes and Commissioner Karl T. Rohrer voted no.

Pay Held Up

The issue was brought to a head by Commissioner Rohrer when he asked why the check for Mr. and Mrs. Snyder had not been delivered for the past month.

"Under a resolution this board adopted some time ago," said Mr. Travers, "any county employee on duty sick for more than 30 days is not paid. Mrs. Snyder has been sick for a long time and since the change in the county home has done nothing."

"When we put M. B. Hogue at the home as superintendent and assigned Mrs. Snyder to care for the women's department it was assumed that she would do some work. She has done practically nothing since then and has not been in the department three times. I am of the opinion that the taxpayers do not want to pay for service which is not given."

Questions Efficiency

Commissioner Rohrer then said: "It was my understanding that Mr. and Mrs. Snyder were to be pensioned at $100 per month and given some small duties at the home. The present cost of the home is increased by the change and I can not see we are getting any more efficiency."

Said Commissioner Wimer: "When this issue first arose my sympathies were with the Snyders. Since then I have lost patience with their attitude at the home and I am forced to agree with Mr. Travers that the Snyders are not doing anything."

Mr. Travers then offered his resolution. In offering it he said to Mr. Rohrer: "There never was any idea of pensioning anybody. We have no pension system for the county. It was the idea that the Snyders do some small duties at the home and these they have not done." Mr. Wimer seconded the resolution.

Mr. and Mrs. Snyder were superintendents of the city poor farm for a number of years and when the county home was opened in 1926 they were made superintendents of the home.

NAZI TRICKERY PLUNGES PARIS INTO TURMOIL

where the Nazis are holding important spots, including the Place De La Concorde.

Reign Of Terror

In their reign of terror, panzers are cruising through the city, spattering machine-gun bullets into streets and houses. But the Central Ile de Cite, with the Notre Dame Cathedral, has remained in the hands of the French despite all savage German attacks.

Outspoken Nazi gloating on German broadcasts indicates that the sly hand of Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels may be seen in the raw deal given Paris, sanctioned by Hitler as was the case for Warsaw and for Rotterdam.

Every new step and every new treachery contains the old familiar earmarks of the first solemn Nazi promise—and all the others that followed. In this case, they promised that the city would be spared if their troops were allowed to withdraw.

Rush In Troops

Then they deliberately rushed thousands of fresh troops through Paris during the night to build up their main defenses and take up positions inside the city, while provoking the resistance groups just enough to give some semblance to the alibi that the other side violated the agreement.

In reality, Hitler in the last few years repeatedly has made statements that he will not leave a stone unturned in any land he is compelled to leave. Now that policy and his trickery are being given full play under Hitler's orders to provoke the Allies into shooting up the city, while under cover of the battle Nazi firebrands probably are applying the torch to Paris and staging last-minute "revenge."

From this vantage point, where the focal battle booms at Paris's gateways, there is evident a rising fury among both Allied military men and civilians at this latest Hitler stab in the back. Paris, already bleeding and deeply scarred, may become a tragic Hitler victim, but basically the Allied cause will not suffer nor will the delayed occupation of the city influence the course of the war.

But Hitler, by spreading a new bloodstain over France, has caused French hatred of Germany to flame like wildfire.

Rolling into battle, French shouted from their tank turrets "abas les Boches"—"down with the Boche"—the first time their hatred of the Nazis has burst into vocal form.

By the same token, if there is any tendency on the part of the doughboys to view the German situation with reserve, it's rapidly being dispelled. In the morning, dust-covered soldiers snarled, "Let's give 'em hell for that!"

Latest reports from Paris say the Nazis are holding the Champs Elysees and the Champs Mars.

ed to his people that he has accepted Allied armistice terms. Michael has never been anything but a figurehead—a puppet.

The astute and wily Stalin pays closest attention to Michael's proclamation. The assault of the Red legions southward in Romania towards the Ploesti oilfields and the plains of the Danube continues unabated.

To Eliminate Nazis

You may rest assured that no Soviet battle action will be checked in Romania until Stalin positively knows that all vestige of Nazi control in that country has been removed.

Hitler's legions now in Yugoslavia, Albania and Greece can only report to German territory northward through perilous mountain passes. Winter comes early to the mountains of southeastern Europe. Once more the German general staff has a clear blueprint of future disasters. If German divisions are left in those three countries they will be entrapped, annihilated, or captured.

At any time the supreme commander so desires, another amphibious invasion could be launched across the placid waters of the Adriatic against the Germans in Yugoslavia, Albania, or northwestern Greece. And once again the partition forces of the oppressed would rise to the assistance of the invaders in the extermination of their oppressors.

Rear Admiral James H. Irish Says Navy Not Getting Needed Vital Supplies

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(INS)—Rear Admiral James H. Irish disclosed today that the Navy feels the war with Japan will continue for at least another 16 months.

Irish, in charge of surplus navy material, told the house postwar policy committee that "we are assuming the war will continue until at least the end of 1945."

Simultaneously he disclosed that the successful prosecution of the navy war in the Pacific was being "handicapped" by failure to obtain certain supplies.

Among the deficiencies he listed were troop carriers and refrigerating vessels, rockets, high-capacity ammunition, 40 mm naval guns "all essential to the successful prosecution of the war."

He blamed the delay in the ship building program on the "inability to obtain items such as electric motors, anti-friction bearings, pump forgings and castings."

President And Willkie To Confer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(INS)—President Roosevelt admitted today that he has been in "inability" communication with Wendell Willkie, and indicated he may confer with the 1940 Republican presidential candidate soon.

The President was asked in his news conference whether he had been in touch with Willkie.

He replied with an affirmative yes, and then added that he had been in touch with him privately.

"Does 'privately' conclude anything?" a reporter started to ask when the President interrupted with a laugh and cut him off.

The President was asked then if he planned to see Willkie soon and if so when.

The President replied that he didn't know of any date having been set and added that he sees a lot of people privately.

It is this agreement, coordinated with an earlier British agreement which was signed today. It consists of five memoranda described as "essentially temporary and practical in character." They deal with:

1. civil administration and jurisdiction; 2. currency; 3. captured war material and property; 4. publicity; 5. distribution of civilian relief supplies.

The signing for the United States was done by Gen. Eisenhower and for the French committee by Gen. Koenig. The announcement emphasized that "Gen. Eisenhower must retain whatever authority he considers necessary for the unimpeded conduct of military operations."

As a footnote to the agreement, it was stated that arrangements are being made for "mutual aid" between the French committee and the United States government. This was understood to include a lend-lease agreement, under which lend-lease would be provided to the French national committee.

One rumor said that French and German generals met and discussed a surrender of the Nazis during a three-hour armistice, but if an armistice really took place at the time it is reported to have occurred, the Germans must have been firing blanks.

Shells continued to drop in the streets, with a lot of racket-making just like real ones and a lot of debris was flung about.

Civilians continued to move about the streets despite the shooting and sniping all around.

One mother was seen wheeling a baby cart as the Maquis fired a 50 caliber machine-gun right over her head toward some enemy position. She went on her way undaunted.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Aug. 25.—Two columns of the French Second Armored Division commanded by Gen. Jacques Leclerc smashed their way into the western outskirts of Paris from the direction of Versailles and fanned out over a wide front, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced today.

French quarters reported that most of the city was in their hands but that stubborn resistance still continued at some points.

By CHARLES A. SMITH

(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Aug. 25.—Two columns of the French Second Armored Division commanded by Gen. Jacques Leclerc smashed their way into the western outskirts of Paris from the direction of Versailles and fanned out over a wide front, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced today.

The entry into the outskirts of Paris took place at approximately 2:30 a. m. today (8:30 p. m. EDT Thursday).

International News Service Staff Correspondent Richard Tregaskis in a dispatch from a town in the Paris region said that American infantrymen operated in support of French tank units that stormed into Paris.

Battles Develop

Bitter battles with stubbornly resisting German forces were declared still raging as the French manned tanks rumbled to the support of patriot forces battling the Nazis in the heart of the French capital after the enemy had violated its pledge to withdraw without a fight.

Gen. Eisenhower's command failed to confirm French radio reports that Leclerc's troops had already driven to the center of Paris and were awaiting the arrival of Gen. Charles DeGaulle, president of the Provisional French government, formerly the committee of national liberation.

A headquarters spokesman said that considerably more opposition had been encountered in the outskirts of Paris than had been expected, with roadblocks, demolitions and mines blocking the progress of Gen. Leclerc's tanks.

There is every indication, the spokesman said, that the Allies will now have to fight for the city itself. He added that there was "no further information" on conditions inside Paris.

Northwest of Paris, the Allies are in firm possession of the Mantes-Gassicourt area and a Nazi counter-attack yesterday morning failed utterly.

In Montargis Area

Fighting in the Montargis area was described as "fairly heavy," and apparently one fortress is being stubbornly held by the enemy despite Allied mopping up efforts.

There is no official news of the thrust beyond Sens, the spokesman said, but he said the city itself. He added that there was "no further information" on conditions inside Paris.

Northwest of Paris, the Allies are in firm possession of the Mantes-Gassicourt area and a Nazi counter-attack yesterday morning failed utterly.

The Nazis line along the Touque river, inland from the Deauville-Trouville sector of the channel coast, has been broken wide open and the enemy has fallen back to the Risle river, which can only serve as a "delaying position," the spokesman said.

On the other hand, the Allied right hook in the Elbeuf area, some 25 miles from the mouth of the Seine, is meeting stiffening resistance, with the Germans attempting strongly to oppose any further advances toward the river's mouth.

The Germans still hold Elbeuf, with fighting under way on both sides of the town.

Trying To Hold Line

There are indications that the enemy is trying frantically to hold a general line from Brionne to Elbeuf.

British and American troops have made contact in the Conches area below Evreux and have occupied Broglie and reached the edge of Brionne.

Some Allied units are only four miles from Honfleur on the southern shore of the Seine estuary, opposite LeHavre.

Headquarters declared there were "no reports" of any Allied troops operating on the opposite side of the Seine, near its mouth.

(The London Evening News quoted the Algiers radio as saying that Allied airborne troops had landed in the Seine estuary near the great channel port of LeHavre, which the Germans have begun to evacuate.)

Toward Seine Estuary

Northwest of Paris, British and Canadian forces closing in toward the Seine estuary have made new advances, with one column thrusting up from the south to the outskirts of Elbeuf and another to Gallon, southeast of Louviers.

Tightening the noose around trapped remnants of the badly mauled German Seventh Army, Lieut. Gen. Miles C. Dempsey's British Second Army continued to advance after overpowering the last Nazi resistance at Lisieux and Pont L'Eveque.

Allied forces reached the Broglie area and thus reduced the trap to less than 18 miles at its broadest point.

In a rapid thrust from the Orbec area, the Allies have reached Thiberville and advanced several miles to the river Risle, east of Bernay, which is in our hands. Other troops advancing from captured Lisieux have reached the banks of the Risle.

Southeast of Pont L'Eveque, the Allies have advanced to a line along the river Calonne from the area of Moyaux on the right bank to Lesathieux on the left.

Farther north, other Allied columns have captured the Foret de St. Gatien and reached the main road south of Bezeville.

On the coast the seashore resort town of Trouville, about two miles beyond Deauville, on the southern shore of the Seine estuary, has been occupied by the British and their Allies in a drive that is approaching Honfleur.

REPORT FRENCH TROOPS REACH HEART OF PARIS

Charles DeGaulle, president of the provisional French government, formerly the committee of national liberation, somewhere outside the city, where he is probably waiting to make a triumphal entry when the capital's liberation is complete, was indicated by one of Leclerc's officers.

To Bring DeGaulle

Speaking over the radio from the prefecture of police in the Ile De Cite, the officer declared that he was about to return to the main battle lines outside Paris "to bring back DeGaulle."

The vanguard of Leclerc's forces have stabbed their way into the heart of the city, the liberation of which was announced prematurely by Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig, commander of French forces of the interior, Wednesday, in the mistaken belief that the Nazis would respect their agreement to a 24-hour truce during which they were to withdraw their forces from the city.

But with typical Nazi treachery, the enemy used the truce to rush reinforcements into the city and beyond in an effort to foil the Allies' liberation of the cradle of French freedom. Patriot forces quickly called for aid from advancing Allied tank and infantry forces and they got it.

Bitter and bloody street fighting was reported raging in various sections of Paris, with infuriated patriots waging hand-to-hand battles against the Nazis.

Washington Calling

Sees Smaller Vote In Nation In Dewey's Favor

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Perhaps the most significant recent political story, since the two conventions, was buried in the back pages of the newspapers. This was the Associated Press survey showing that by the most conservative estimate the total vote in the presidential election this year will be under the nearly 50,000,000 of 1940.

It is significant because a small vote means that Governor Dewey's chances of election are greatly increased. Chairman Hannegan of the Democratic national committee recognized this when he said, in an interview the other day, that the first part of the campaign would be devoted to getting voters registered.

Fewer Votes
Sixteen out of the 13 states surveyed by the Associated Press polled 2,500,000 fewer votes in senatorial and gubernatorial elections than in the last recent comparative statewide primaries. The total Republican and Democratic primary vote in Illinois for governor was off 36 per cent as compared to 1942. In the primaries in Kansas, the drop was 49 per cent as compared to 1940.

If the Democrats, with the help of the political action committee, are going to get this job of registration done, they're going to have to hurry. Twelve million civilians of voting age have changed their home addresses since the 1940 election; and most of these voters are industrial workers or farm laborers, which means that by and large they are on the Roosevelt side of the fence.

All evidence indicates they are not now registered in their new communities. Take, for example, two Pacific coast communities. San Francisco has gained 26 per cent in population during the war boom, and the Puget Sound shipbuilding center of Tacoma, Wash., 20.6 per cent. Yet Democratic voting totals have been off in both cities in recent primaries.

New York Vote Smaller
New York state has lost more than a million in population. Were these largely Roosevelt voters? If so, the loss could be fatal to the president in the state with the biggest bag of electoral votes. Roosevelt carried New York against Wendell Willkie by only 224,000 votes.

Special trains took many New York industrial workers across the continent to Henry J. Kaiser's shipyards on the Columbia river in Oregon. Are these workers registered to vote? A half-hearted registration drive at one of the Kaiser yards, employing more than 49,000 workers, brought in only 1,321 new registrants. A Democratic leader in Oregon, which has three times voted decisively for Roosevelt, but is now shown in the Gallup poll as 51 per cent for Dewey, wrote:

Thousands Unregistered
"There is no doubt that we have the votes in Oregon to give the state to Roosevelt for a fourth time. A big majority of the people right now favor Roosevelt. But the thousands of workers who have moved here to work in war industries just aren't registered. And if they aren't registered, they can't vote; and if they don't vote, Dewey will carry Oregon."

Republicans are claiming Illinois is safe for Dewey. This may be based partly on the fact that Roosevelt carried Illinois by only 95,664 votes, whereas the state has lost 318,000 in population during the war boom. And what about Ohio, where the president carried by 146,000 votes over Willkie, but which has only 76,000 in population?

Eleven million men and women are in uniform. A secret poll taken by the war department recently showed only about 10 per cent with any interest in national affairs back home. In spite of loose talk about officers "coaching" their men to vote, it is very doubtful if more than 15 to 20 per cent of the soldier vote is recorded.

The odds favor Roosevelt, the incumbent, in the midst of a great war. But history could be changed by the names written—or not written—in the polling boxes. Republicans claim Willkie lost by less than three votes in 1900, and that a turnover of 1,500,000 votes might have changed the outcome in the electoral college.

The bigger the vote, the better FDR's chances. The smaller the vote, the bigger the edge for the Republicans. That's the arithmetic of this unprecedented election year.

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt tells Dumbarton Oaks delegates: "What I hope is that in planning for the peace that is to come we will arrive at the same good co-operation and unity of action as we have in the carrying out of the war."

WASHINGTON—General John J. Pershing: "The liberation of Paris is a great step forward along the road to Berlin."

NEW YORK—Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago: "When the war is won, it will be not only a great victory for America, but also for President Roosevelt."

CHICAGO—Sen. Harry S. Truman, Democratic vice-presidential candidate: "Union seniority or anything else can't stand in the way of veterans' preference for jobs after the war, but I think the unions and the veterans will work the problem out."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HELPING IN THE HOME

It was a family of five children ranging in ages from six to 13, three boys and two girls. They lived on the outskirts of a town adjoining a small city. It was a modest but comfortable home the parents were buying.

These parents appeared to be healthy and well poised. The father was a white collar worker earning a moderate wage. They had no car. When Mrs. Myers and I arrived as dinner guests, every child was helping the mother prepare the meal. The eldest boy and the next-older girl helped to serve.

Leisurely Atmosphere
Every member of the family talked some during the meal, no one appearing to demand too much attention. Before the dinner and following it there seemed to be no confusion or family irritations and all went along in a leisurely atmosphere, except that the oldest child (boy) was a bit jittery because he was going to be late for the meeting of his club at the church.

The other children helped the mother clear the table and were then told, "We will all visit with Dr. and Mrs. Myers and Daddy and I will do the dishes later."

The mother, adept at music, played and sang several songs with the children, at our request, including one the children asked for which she had composed in honor of a soldier friend of the family in the Pacific.

Children Co-operative
By 8:30 the children at home were in bed and the parents, Mrs. Myers and I, visited as old friends, though we had never met before the meeting of the PTA the day before.

These parents recounted some of their earlier financial struggles and how their children now learn to share in stretching the family budget, noting some individual differences among the children in regard to handling money.

Soon after nine we started to leave but were urged by the mother to stay until the boy returned to hear him play his trombone. "We don't want to show him off, and he's not so good," she explained. "But I'm sure if he could play for you it would greatly stimulate his urge to strive harder at his practice." We stayed and listened appreciatively and the lad seemed pleased.

From other sources we learned that this family was highly respected in the neighborhood and that the mother had been leading a young mothers' study club for a number of years, using my column and bulletins as text materials; that moreover, many individual mothers of the club would come to her for counsel about their children, seeing she was so successful with her five.

On the previous evening Mrs. Myers and I were also dinner guests in another home with a mother, her two boys, seven and 10, and the grandmother. When I told you that the following week we saw the picture of that mother and her boys and the father, a naval officer, reported missing in the Pacific for two years, in a popular national magazine and heard no mention of such publicity from that family, you will see what a high plane they were on.

While reference was made to the father as missing by the mother it was related briefly without any show of emotions. The boys referred to him only in connection with some good times with him they could recall. We were especially impressed with the fine relationships revealed between the grandmother and the rest of the family. I think she epitomized all the good points in my bulletin "Suggestions To Grandparents" to be had for postage in a self-addressed stamped envelope sent to 235 East 45th Street, New York City.

Good Taste
Dr. W. A. Patient (Dr. FRANCIS MARKEE)

BRAAGING ABOUT AFFLUENCE OR LACK OF IT

We all know the vulgarity of bragging about our worldly goods. The new rich, so unaccustomed to luxuries suddenly heaped upon them, are likely to take themselves and their worldly goods too seriously and brag show off and before their friends with discussion and concentration on their affluence. Most of us have endured this too often.

Then there are those at the opposite end of the pole—those whose affluence has dwindled or disappeared almost entirely and those whose finances have never been above mediocrity. The majority of this latter type take their financial standing or lack of it as something that fate doled out to them and thank their lucky stars that things are not too bad.

Among the worst offenders are those in reduced circumstances. They feel so sorry for themselves that they dwell constantly on their unfortunate plight. They make themselves unpopular by their depressed attitude toward their new poverty. Indeed, these braggers of their last affluence are as boring to their friends and display almost as great a vulgarity as the wealthy who talk unduly of their good fortunes.

Dwell in public neither on your riches nor your poverty. Questions: I frequently see people remove the right glove to shake hands. Is this necessary?—W.B.

Answer: A man meeting a woman on the street should remove his right glove before shaking hands. Gloves worn with formal clothes—at the opera, a wedding, a ball, etc., should not be removed for this purpose. A man should extend his gloved hand when the gloves are intended to be worn indoors. A woman need never remove her glove to shake hands, regardless of the circumstances.

Cruelty Of War Shows Kindness In Some Unknown Listeners Help To Bring Cheer New Names In News As Peace Draws Near

By HELEN ESSARY (Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Sometimes it seems that all this killing in the name of patriotism makes people kinder—when they have a chance to be kind.

Several months ago a friend of mine was told that her son was missing in action. She grieved greatly and finally decided that the hope he might still be alive was an empty one.

The unexpectedly she received 12 letters from her son, in remote and uncharted parts of the country. Each letter had the same message, substantially this:

The writer had been listening in on a short wave radio set of his own; had tuned in on Germany and had heard the German report on recently captured American soldiers. With each name reported an address had been given.

The letter writers had taken down the names and addresses. My friend's son's name was among the list. Later she received verification that he was a prisoner of war from the war department.

But the kindness of those unknown people had spared her weeks of distress. My friend had the impression from the letters that the short wave listeners in made it a practice to write good news to the families of soldiers whenever the chance came.

MacArthur Keeps Looks

There's no doubt about it—Gen. Douglas MacArthur has kept his good looks. The newspaper pictures of the general and the general prove it. Perhaps this is why Washington conversation about the general and his first wife, now Mrs. Alf Heiberger, formerly Louise Cromwell Brooks MacArthur, has revived.

General MacArthur was the second husband of the beguiling Mrs. Heiberger. Not long ago she was offered a great sum of money for her MacArthur reminiscences. This week's news reports that Mrs. Heiberger's brother, the former minister to Canada, James M. R. Cromwell, was offered a pretty little fortune for a book about Doris Duke, with whom he is at the moment wrestling for a suitable divorce.

Those Cromwells, sister and brother, surely "have a way with them." Their matrimonial memoirs might be of benefit to posterity.

Rumors—They do say that Rear Admiral William Glassford who headed the United States mission to Dakar may be the United States ambassador to France when there is a France once again.

A very top ranking member of President Roosevelt's official family will soon be married. He's a gentleman who's frequently been referred to in Washington as "a perfect darning."

Capital relatives of the Duchess of Windsor say that the British government has repented of its decision to keep the former King of England and his American wife in exile in Nassau and has said the two most famous lovers since Antony and Cleopatra may live in definitely in Newport where they are now visiting. The duchess is reported in ill health.

New Faces Coming
What a shuffling, diplomatic and otherwise, the end of the war will bring! I want to see what happens to that Pentagon building its five-sided corridors double lined with miles of offices will disgorge enough citizens to build up a new town.

The War Production Board is about winding up its affairs also. Its days of usefulness are ending. The hustle and the prodding it gave to industry has calmed down to a gentle patting. A patting on the head, in most cases.

You won't be hearing about WPB Chief Donald Nelson much longer now. New actors will come upon the national scene. The words "war production" will make room for that big word of the hour, "reconversion." Certainly the manufacturers want to get back to peacetime work in a hurry. We will be competing with the rest of the world for trade before you can say "What's become of my money?"

It'd like to hear the Fuller Brush men at the door again. The perfect little combination scraper for frying pan, double boiler, gardening shoes and bird cages he gave me when he put his foot in my door. April three years ago, is worn down to its wire nubbins.

I wonder what will happen to that old reliable interview magnet in suit, "Isolationist." About five years from now it may be confused with "insulationist." In mid-August the latter has powerfully good sound when added to "air conditioned."

MANGE
Mange seems to be the common name for skin diseases of cats and dogs.

If a dog or cat has something wrong with the skin it is usually called mange.

These skin diseases of animals are dangerous because many of them are contagious.

A person may get a skin disease from an animal. It may cause considerable trouble.

Fleas are not usually considered very dangerous but they sure can bite.

If an animal has a skin disease it should be kept away from children especially.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

According to the OPA large quantities of counterfeit A-1 gasoline coupons have been discovered even before they were valid.

Millions of counterfeit coupons of all kinds—gasoline, oil, food—are in circulation, and millions more are in the course of manufacture.

The country is flooded with counterfeit money, there are burglaries and holdups and embezzlement and other crimes.

What makes a person a criminal? During my years as a newspaper reporter, I have talked to hundreds of criminals.

Almost all of them committed crimes, according to their own statements, because they wanted easy money and weren't fools enough to work eight hours a day for a living.

Easy money, indeed, and no work attached to crime!

I just read a story of a fellow who snatched a purse containing eight dollars.

A policeman caught him in the act and ordered him to stop. Instead, the man ran, the cop pulled his gun and shot him dead.

The fellow was twenty-five years old, lived in a cheap flat and left a wife and a two-year-old baby. But there wasn't a penny for burial or insurance or even for the next day's food.

The young widow said that her husband never wanted to work—he had good times and tried to be a big shot.

Typical Of Crime
That's typical of crime. Good times and trying to be a big shot.

I have still to meet the first criminal who has as it is so often called, a "master mind."

Most crooks work harder at crime than honest men work at their daily jobs.

There is always the fear of arrest, always the hiding the treacherous fellow-criminal, the graft.

And what does he get out of it? Look at your "successful" criminal. As fast as they make their money they spend it. There is debauchery and excesses and disease.

The lunatic asylum are full of ex-master-criminals. The prisons tell their own story, and the electric chair or the hangman's rope has put an end to many such a career.

And even if he escapes asylum, prison, or chair there is always that one terrible court of justice from which no human being can escape—Conscience.

Who says "Crime doesn't pay" I say it does pay—it pays in agony and death.

P. S. I hope the fellow who burglarized the house down the street last night will read this and return the silver spoons we lent our neighbor.

The World and the Mud Puddles

MUST PRESERVE OUR LIBERTY
In the midst of all our tribulations, nightmares and feverish and fantastic planning for the future, there is one stopping place where all of us may pause and lay down our money, and that is whatever happens, the United States of America is not going to the eternal bow-wow.

By far the most overwhelming and heart-rending circumstance engaging our minds is the fact that four or five million of our very best boys and girls are scattered to the four winds of the earth offering and giving their lives to their country.

With another four or five million in training camps, getting ready to go. And most of them are really just boys and girls in their twenties or younger. They have been yanked out of comfortable and for the most part happy homes, uniformed, and put through a quick course of training to be sent off to war and to kill. Are they kicking? Not a squawk. Are they giving a good account of themselves? As you asking me?

Still we are stewing and spluttering around like an old hen with a flock of little chicks about what we piously allude to as a tragic wave of juvenile delinquency. The youngsters, we wave, are hell bent, and unless something is done about it, we will be facing a generation rivalling the episodes of Sedon and General.

What's ailing most of our oldsters is that we are not in it, a part of it, enjoying the excitement. Instead, we are nursing our pity in the cradle of our infirmities, wallowing in the happiness of our misery, and striving for joy and peace of mind by forecasting the doom of delinquency.

Meanwhile those millions of our boys and girls are out in the battlefronts where we sent them, fighting our war for us, ministering to each other under fire, fearless, keen and unafraid. Everywhere they go they are received as the saviours of humanity, the emissaries of freedom, the courageous and unbeatable messengers of a better way of life, swelling destruction on a scale undreamed of by history. But brothers and sisters, they are the kind of a world we are living in. There still seems to be enough criminal lunatics and

POSTWAR RELIEF PLANS DISCUSSED

Delegates From Fourteen States Arrive
In Session At Harrisburg Considering Problems

By JAMES H. SMITH
(U. S. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 25.—The council of state governments looked forward today to postwar relief problems resulting from the return home of out-of-state war workers and adopted resolutions proposing liberal administration of assistance.

Delegates from 14 states approved one resolution urging legislatures throughout the nation to approve reciprocity in residence requirements for persons moving from one state to another while on relief and a companion measure calling for speedy congressional adoption of an amendment to the social security act fixing financial aid for states which have abolished settlement and residence requirements.

The delegates will conclude their two-day session today at Harrisburg after endorsing a series of resolutions on uniform relief administration and other social problems.

Reciprocity Move
The reciprocity resolution, sponsored by Sen. John H. Dent (D), Westmoreland, urged legislation permitting relief recipients moving from Pennsylvania to continue to draw benefits from the Keystone state until entitled to aid in their new homes.

The other proposal, submitted by the council's bill drafting committee headed by majority floor leader Franklin H. Lichtenwalter (R), Lehigh, pledged the organization to work for legislative approval of model measures abolishing intrastate and interstate settlement restrictions on all types of assistance.

Acting Secretary of Public Assistance Robert P. Wray told the delegates the proposals were aimed at removing the "bugaboos" of relief administration.

The committee's resolution authorized the council to press for the approval in the nation's legislatures of measures memorializing Congress to adopt "an amendment to the social security act under which federal financial participation be made available to the states which have abolished their settlement or residence requirements on a grant-in-aid basis for purposes of general relief."

Lichtenwalter said he hoped that the 44 state legislatures meeting in January, 1945, would approve the council's program.

Delegates represented Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and Illinois.

Pfc. Howard Getty Is Killed In France

Pfc. Howard James Getty, formerly of 213 East Long avenue, died of wounds received in action in France on July 25, the same day he was wounded, according to word received by his brother, Eugene Getty of Erie.

Inducted into the army in November, 1942, he had been overseas for the past 12 months. His first action was on D-day in the invasion of France, when he served with the coast artillery.

Pfc. Getty was born in Erie but lived in New Castle with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rovigno. He is survived by five brothers, Arthur who is with the army in Italy, Robert and Eugene, Great Lakes seamen, and Leo and Francis, who live in Erie.

United Engineering Employees Select Bargaining Agents

Workers of the machine shop and foundry of the United Engineering Company expressed their preference for bargaining agents Thursday, August 24 when an election, ordered by the War Labor Board was held. The employees of the machine shop returned nearly a two to one vote for the International Association of Machinists, an American Federation of Labor affiliate which has been the bargaining agent for the machinists for some time.

In the foundry the vote was in favor of the C.I.O. Until now the bargaining agent for the foundry has been the Molders and Founders union.

The election came as the result of a hearing held recently in which the C.I.O. asked for an election to determine the bargaining agent for the plant. It was finally decided to hold a two-way election, giving the employees of each department the opportunity to select either its craft union or the C.I.O.

Before the war Japan was one of the principal exporters of canaries to the United States.

Over 1,100 U. S. Bombers Raid Nazi Targets

BULLETIN

LONDON, Aug. 25.—(INS)—More than 1,100 United States Fortress and Liberator bombers shattered a variety of targets in northern Germany today in a vast operation to cripple synthetic oil plants and flying bomb experimental stations.

Objectives of the American Air Force included four aircraft plants, three air force stations, a research center, a synthetic oil plant, and the flying bomb and rocket experimental station at Peenemunde.

The big bombers were escorted by a strong force of fighters.

Observers on the coast of England said Allied planes went out from Britain in a steady stream today.

AROUND CITY HALL

Director of Public Improvements James Gibson today stated that street workers are repaving the last block in North Delaware avenue and the city will be reimbursed by public utilities who laid service lines to new homes built there recently. This is the usual procedure in such cases.

Comptroller Warren, U. S. government, has notified the city it cannot legally reimburse the city about $2,800 for having protected property at the NYA center after the project was abandoned last July. The head of the local NYA here asked council in July, 1943, to furnish protection because of alleged burglary attempts. No written request from the higher-ups of the NYA was received until council realized that the center, which held materials worth thousands of dollars, assigned men to guard the place for six months. Now the government places their inability to reimburse the city on a technicality. According to legal advice were the city doing business with an individual, instead of the government which the city cannot sue, it would not be difficult to recover or to order the tenants off the NYA (Cunningham park) property. However, in view of the fact that the army has taken over and a reconditioning camp for soldiers has been installed there, no such action will be taken, except to seek further means to recover money which the city honestly believes is due a just debt. The city acted in good faith and by sending watchmen there no doubt saved the government considerable loss, it is reported. No damage nor loss was incurred after the watchmen took over.

LEWIS IS GIVEN NEW PROMOTION

Will Be Fuel And Mechanical Instructor For Entire Baltimore & Ohio System

STEPHEN O. LEWIS

Announcement was made today by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad of the appointment of Stephen O. Lewis of 131 Lincoln avenue as the fuel and mechanical instructor for the entire Baltimore & Ohio system.

The new office is a promotion from the position of road foreman of engines of the Baltimore division which Mr. Lewis has been filling for the past two years.

Mr. Lewis started service with the B. & O. about 35 years ago and for some years was an engineer on the New Castle division. Later he served as road foreman of engines at Cincinnati, O., and for the Akron, Ohio, division at Akron, O. Two years ago he was made road foreman of engines for the Baltimore division and moved to Baltimore but some months ago brought his family back to New Castle.

In his new capacity Mr. Lewis will have charge of the instruction of firemen and engineers in fuel economy through correct firing practice and good locomotive management. He will have a private car in which he will travel the system but will probably keep his family residence in New Castle. His headquarters will be in Baltimore, Md.

represents the key point in Russian efforts to trap Nazis attempting to flee from the area about Chisinau, while Baco, 24 miles south of Roman, is an important communications center and the gateway to the Malmesti oilfields.

Large Bag of Prisoners

The smashing Russian drive into Romania has scooped up great masses of Nazi prisoners and equipment. A Soviet communique revealed that the first five days of the new offensive in Romania and Bessarabia had brought over 47,000 Germans into Russian hands.

The bag of prisoners included the commander of the Nazi Ninth infantry division, Major Gen. Werner-Kever, who was taken with a large group of German troops surrounded west of the fallen stronghold of Akkerman.

The Soviet communique quoted the captured German general as saying: "In my opinion, the days of the German army have been counted."

Counter-Attacks Repelled

In the north, German counter attacks against Russian positions north-east of Warsaw, near Praga, were repelled by Soviet forces. Other German attacks driven against Red Army positions in Latvia in an effort to free the Nazi Baltic garrison trapped in Latvia and Estonia were also hurled back. German armor and infantry combined in counter blows against Russian positions in both Poland and Latvia.

Near Jelgava, a simultaneous attack made by 100 German tanks and self propelled guns was smashed in a Soviet armored ambush. Soviet artillery and tanks destroyed 40 panzers in heavy fighting before the Nazi attack withdrew.

Farther north, in Estonia, Russian combat teams driving between the Baltic and Lake Pskov crashed through Nazi defenses to positions within a mile and a half of Tartu. Over 800 Germans were killed, 34 guns and 40 mortars seized in the fighting below Tartu.

Opposition Varies

Already in possession of the Moldavian capital at Chisinau, the Soviets found the path of their advance in many regions virtually lacking in opposition, these reports said. In other areas they ran into strong defensive bastions, but it could not be learned immediately whether these were manned by Romanians who disregarded King Michael's proclamation of surrender or by Nazis.

The main armored forces, it is known, are German and still are fighting.

In London, Reuter's News agency circulated a Cairo dispatch stating that the situation inside Romania is "disintegrating rapidly" and the Soviets in control of the country as far south as the Danube, according to "authentic reports." Reuter's said, the Romanian civilians and army are united in their determination to drive out the Germans.

Make 37 Mile Advance

(BBC reported that Russian divisions in Romania advanced 37½ miles since last night and reached the Galati Gap leading to the Ploesti oilfields and Bucharest. CBS heard the broadcast.

(The German DNB agency also admitted withdrawals in Romania. "Influenced by the attitude of the Romanian divisions" and the "treacherous preparations of the Royalist party."

(DNB admitted that because of Romania's decision to surrender "when the Soviets attempted a breakthrough with strong forces they found very little resistance on the part of some Romanian troops."

(By taking back the front on both sides of the Prut and Central Sereth rivers, the Germans are seeking the aid of natural defense lines farther west," DNB said, adding, "this movement already is in action."

Hold Suspect In Soldier Beating, Police Announce

Chief Robert D. Hanna today announced he was holding in jail a colored man arrested yesterday by Patrolman James Brown, colored and Joseph Calvelli, in connection with the attack on and robbery of Pvt. Charles Evisizer, Camp Reynolds, at Reynolds and Scioto street, August 6. When taken to detective headquarters the suspect after being grilled by Detective Moore and Lieutenant Suber gave them enough information to warrant his being held and also named the other colored man who actually committed the assault.

At present he is technically "booked" on a charge of suspicion but Chief Hanna said, a formal charge would be made against him.

The soldier, in company with another soldier, had accompanied a young woman to the south side. Pvt. Evisizer sat down on a curb to wait until his soldier buddy had bid good-bye to the girl.

Two colored men reportedly attacked him while he was seated. He was badly beaten and kicked. Apparently the trail was lost because the assault and robbery was not reported for hours afterward.

However, in view of the alleged viciousness of the attack orders were given by Police Chief Hanna that nothing could be left undone to bring about the arrest of the soldier's assailants.

Patrolman Brown procured some information recently that led him to suspect the man now held as knowing considerable about the attack and with Patrolman Calvelli placed him in custody yesterday.

Bus Blaze Cause Of Excitement

Baggage In Compartment In Rear Of Blue Ridge System Bus Found Ablaze

Considerable excitement was occasioned just at the noon hour today, when a bus owned by the Blue Ridge Bus System was found afire on arrival at the bus terminal, corner of North Jefferson and North streets. The fire was beginning to spread when discovered, and employees of the Atlantic gasoline station, on the opposite corner rushed to the scene, using hand extinguishers to keep the fire in check until city firemen arrived in response to a telephone call. The cause of the blaze could not be determined. Considerable damage was caused to baggage stored in the compartment above the motor of the bus. It was operated by Theodore Wood, of Meadville.

At 10:30 o'clock this morning, firemen were summoned to the home of Robert Kennedy, of 1326 East Brook street, when a celluloid tray, placed on top of a gas stove, caught fire, filling the house with smoke. No action was required of firemen.

At 10:45 o'clock, Thursday night, Second ward firemen were called to the home of J. L. Pitzer, of 137 Park avenue, when some paper which had been placed in the back of a gas stove caught fire when the grate was lighted. No action was required in this instance either.

DEFENDS CAPITALISM
NEW CASTLE, Pa. — (INS) — "Labor must not take the fruits of capitalism, or refuse to let it operate," if we are to build a better America, according to Delos Walker, of Chicago. Speaking before a New Castle club he declared, "if income cannot be produced then both capital and labor will have to fold up, because they are interdependent."

Purpose of the fan of an automobile motor is to draw in air when the motor is idling; it could be cut out at speeds over 40, as it was on the now extinct Wills-St. Claire.

Report Is Made On Whiskey Sales

HARRISBURG, Aug. 25.—(INS)—The liquor control board reported today that 1,350,126 Pennsylvanians purchased whiskey at 575 state stores during the sixth rationing period ended August 19.

The board said 55,000 individuals made their first whiskey purchases during the six-week period while 46,840 service men bought their quotas.

Liquor purchases were made by 3,891,199 civilians and more than 400,000 service men since whiskey rationing was launched last November, a board spokesman said.

The number of registrants during the sixth period was the lowest since rationing was inaugurated, the spokesman added.

Dulles And Hull Continue Talks On Peace Plans

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(INS)—John Foster Dulles, foreign affairs adviser to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, is scheduled to meet with Secretary of State Hull for the third straight day today as delegates to the international security conference continued their secret talks at Dunbarton Oaks.

After two days of foreign policy talks with Hull, Dulles described the meetings as "something novel in American political life" and said "we are breaking ground and making progress slowly and carefully."

GOP members of Congress who also have been conferring with Dulles, said there was virtually no fundamental difference of views between Dewey and Secretary Hull.

Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, said "All Republicans in the house and senate have kept in touch with Secretary Hull's plan" for an international organization to keep the peace.

"Both parties are very much in accord on the general details, but there are many details—important ones—to be considered," Taft said.

"These are nothing to cause a political issue, however."

Court Martial For Army Flier In Woman's Death

SELFREDGE FIELD, Mich., Aug. 25.—(INS)—The Public Relations Office announced today that Lieut. Kenneth W. Wassing, of the Army Air Corps, will be court-martialed at Selfridge Field in connection with the death August 2 of Mrs. Mary Meyer, of Madeira, Ohio.

Wassing, who is stationed at the Oscoda Army Air Field, is charged with flying his P-47 airplane so low over Lake Margrethe that his propeller blades struck and killed Mrs. Meyer, who was riding on the lake in a rowboat with her son.

There are two charges against Wassing, one of "culpable negligence" in leading a flight of three planes "in a reckless and unauthorized manner," and one of flying his plane "over a boat at an altitude of less than 1,000 feet" in violation of the 96th Article of War.

Wilmington Girl Sworn Into WAC

Miss Virginia Mounts, 137 Market street, New Wilmington, will leave August 30 for six weeks basic training at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia. Upon completion of training she will be assigned as a light truck driver at Langley Air Field, Va., for the Army Air Force.

She was sworn into the Woman's Army Corps on August 3. The new WAC enlistee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Mounts, of New Wilmington.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

political gangsters on earth making it necessary for a periodical clean-up with guns and fire and hell-raising generally.

That is no credit to what we call civilization, of course not. But that is the way it is, and with 2,500,000,000 human beings on the earth, and no two alike, it is altogether probable that there will be other wars before the mass of the world's inhabitants are transformed into saints and we can unlock the jail doors and leave our valuables lying around loose.

We like to imagine that following each war civilization takes a step upward and upward, and in some respects this may be true. But there are those who will give you a good argument to the contrary. It may be admitted that we advance in the science of technology. Through the profligacy of war spending we accomplish the unbelievable in producing machinery for destruction. These inventions and discoveries when re-harnessed to the pursuits of peace yield new comforts and luxuries to living which we proudly put down on the credit side of the ledger.

But never yet has anything been discovered that restores the lives of those who have made the real sacrifice, and that is a rather high price to pay for progress.

Meanwhile, between wars, there is or has been, always a nation, here and there, which immediately absorbs these new devices, and improving on them, goes right to work preparing for the next war, and civilization basking in the pride of its accomplishments, rouses itself just long enough to moan that it can't happen here, and returns to its slumbers. The results have been that each succeeding war grows in intensity, fury, cruelty and destructiveness.

Had it not been for the United States of America this trip, there is not a shadow of a doubt but what there would not have been a shred of what we call civilization left by this time, and Germany and Japan would have been reigning in tyranny throughout the world. We had a taste of the same thing in World War I. The German Kaiser made no bones about how he intended ruling the universe when he won. Each of his several sons had been allotted a world capital where he was to be enthroned and run things, taking his orders from Berlin, and our own Washington was one of the top prizes.

We did little or nothing about it except sent three or four million American soldiers Over There to stop him. And one stopped, we did less. We started in the other direction and aided our potential enemies and the acknowledged enemies of civilization to recoup their losses and prepare for another whack at us. We went still further. In our extreme innocence and gullibility, we entered a peace deal with nations, some of whom we know to be crooks, and agreed to disarm, even going so far as to sink some of our newest and best warships, just as a gesture of our sincerity.

Continuing in this folly, out of the storehouses of our riches we proceeded to extend our business and diplomatic favors to these nations until within the lifetime of those living, the most vicious and ferocious assault of all history has been made on the heart and soul of civilization, including the God we worship, and the assault has again been dumped into our laps, and redemption is up to us. America and America alone is able to save the day; to save the world from slavery, atheism and anarchy.

And this brings us logically and forcefully to the question: What manner of country is this America that periodically it should be called upon to preserve and safeguard human rights the world over?

From the beginning America has been dedicated to human freedom, that men are born with certain inalienable rights, that the power to govern should be derived from the governed. That the citizen is first, the State second. We may think, speak, write as we please if we can back our opinions. We may worship according to our conscience. We may choose our work, save and accumulate, having our property rights safeguarded. In brief, we are free to fix our own way of life to the extent that we do not infringe on the same rights of others. Under this system, America has lived and prospered to a point where it excels all other nations.

Today, because we have outdistanced the rest of the world in strength, wealth and good living, we are being almost ordered by those in authority to give up these privileges and lower ourselves to the level of the rest of the world. To do this, they tell us, we must scatter our wealth to the four winds of the earth, and by so doing, if we would still live, we must succumb to regimentation, a "planned economy" in which professional bureaucrats will tell us what we shall eat, what we shall drink and whereat we shall be clothed. Our work shall be laid out for us.

All we owe the rest of the world is to not interfere with their opportunity to do the same things we've been doing. Our purpose in life as a nation should be to preserve what we have worked to earn, with fairness and justice to others, not to fritter it away in any freaky notion of altruism.

Our productive rights shall be prescribed. Our earnings shall be leveled off by taxation. Our human rights chartered for us by the State. All this because some precious pooh bah has decided that we owe the world a living.

Urge President To 'Crack Down'

Congress Concerned Over
Effect Of Resignation Of Wilson From W.P.B.

WILSON MAKES SOME CHARGES

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—President Roosevelt was urged today to "crack down" on dissident elements in the government as a result of the effect of resignation of Charles E. Wilson, vice-chairman of the War Production Board.

Members of congress, concerned both with war production and re-conversion, assailed the "back out" which caused Wilson to quit to return to his post as president of General Electric company.

Mr. Roosevelt, who reluctantly accepted Wilson's resignation, hastily summoned Lieut. Commander J. A. Krug, former WPB official who has held many posts under the New Deal, to take his place.

Krug's appointment was speeded because WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson, whose aides were blamed by Wilson for his decision, is scheduled to leave on a mission to China.

Some members of congress urged that Nelson be detained.

"This is an administration matter," said Sen. Burton (R), Ohio, member of the senate war investigating committee. "We ought not have these factional differences. It is up to the president—there has been more friction in this administration than usual."

Sen. Ellender (D), La., declared there is "back biting" in all departments with "one ambitious fellow wanting to cut the throat of another. We ought to have a fire-cleaning in some departments. Nelson ought to be big enough to go to the bottom of this and fire the dissenters."

Wilson Makes Charges
The senate war investigating committee, after hearing Wilson behind closed doors, concluded there was no real difference between them on the question of speeding up civilian production as cut-backs are made in war production.

Wilson, in resigning, charged that Nelson's staff repeatedly spread charges that he as a "big business" man had opposed reconversion of small business units and had sided with the army in a fight with Nelson.

Amplifying his statements, the hard-hitting Wilson blamed Nelson for delay in his reported intention to hold a news conference to declare that he and Wilson saw eye-to-eye on reconversion.

He said "repeated promises were never carried out" by Nelson and that it was a case of Nelson putting things off until tomorrow.

The Wilson resignation caused some New Deal officials to fear a fresh wave of resignations in the huge sprawling government machine, such as Mr. Roosevelt faced months ago. At one time conflicting statements and fighting among officials got so bad that the president ordered that all statements be cleared through the Office of War Information.

The president also rebuked both Vice-President Henry A. Wallace and Secretary of Commerce Jesse H. Jones for quarreling over responsibility for the rubber situation. One concern of the administration was the apparently authentic report that James Byrnes, war mobilization director, is also planning to resign soon.

Rep. Woodruff (R) Mich., predicted that Nelson will be the next high official to be forced out of office.

Local Scouts Join
Waste Paper Drive

Rev. Warren A. Bugbee, chairman of the local Boy Scouts committee, desires that members of Mahoningtown Boy Scouts Troop V-4, meet on Saturday at 12:15 in the afternoon, at the corner of Cedar street and Madison avenue, to report at the location of the Conn Welding plant, South Croton avenue, near South Mill street, to join in the general waste paper collection throughout the city.

The number of boys from the local troop participating will bring credit for work done.

Lt. G. R. Horschler Returns To Hospital

Lieut. George R. Horschler, attached to the air force, has concluded twenty one days sick leave, visiting with his wife, Mrs. Leona Horschler and sons George and William, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Horschler, of 106 East Cherry street. He is steadily improving.

Lieut. Horschler has returned to the hospital at Fort Dix, N. J. He sustained injuries when his plane crashed somewhere in England.

LOCAL SOLDIER IN COMBAT AREA

Word has been received by the seventh ward reporter from Staff Sergeant Joe Pisano, who is stationed somewhere in the Pacific, that he is now in a combat area.

He says, "Here I am in a strange land, much nearer to the Jap lines, a couple of miles lies our perimeter, we are bivouacked on the beach, small bore firing and heavy guns can be heard all day; planes going and coming from successful missions flying overhead. The Jap air power is not being heard of in this area; their ground troops are in a bad predicament, being starved and wiped out, many driven into the interior to the jungles. They pay us in Dutch money, none of it compares with the good old American greenbacks. The natives here are a little more civilized and better dressed, they wear our undershirts, "GI" shoes, and other "army clothing."

Sgt. Pisano is a son of Mrs. Mary Pisano, 11 Tremont street.

RURAL CARRIER IN VETERANS HOSPITAL

Ed McBride, superintendent of Mahoningtown post office, received word Thursday that Jess Boak, rural carrier on route 7, out of Mahoningtown, office, condition remains about the same.

Mr. Boak is a veteran of World War I and has been carrier for about 20 years. He is confined to the Veterans Administration hospital, Bronx 63, New York City.

ON VACATION

John Wilson, letter carrier out of Mahoningtown post office is off duty, spending about ten days of his vacation in a rest period. The route is being served by Stephen Zidow, carrier from the New Castle office.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Mrs. Frances Russo of 217 South Liberty street has been admitted to the New Castle hospital.

Mrs. Mary Prospero of 309 West Wabash avenue has recovered sufficiently to return to her home from the New Castle hospital.

Miss Judith Ann Metz of 923 North Cedar street has returned after several weeks visit with friends in Philadelphia and Ocean City.

Dolores, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Domenick of 206 South Liberty street, who underwent a tonsil operation at her surgeon's office, is getting along nicely.

Cpl. Sam Froella, stationed in California, is on furlough for six days, visiting his wife at Reimersburg, and with his sister, Mrs. Carmen Domenick of 26½ North Liberty street.

Seaman First Class Louis Patsy Conti, somewhere in Italy, has sent his picture to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Conti of West Wabash avenue. S 1-c Conti was in action during the invasion of France.

Machinist Mate First Class Bill O'Neill, attached to the Naval Air Force, Oakland, Calif., enroute to Washington, D. C., is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Frank Rheinhardt, 205 West Madison avenue. He had been visiting with his mother, Mrs. C. F. O'Neill, of Youngstown.

A French general and three officers, armed with canes, strolled down to the foot of Fort Jean, where General Scheffer in command of the Germans drove up in a powerful car with six SS men armed to the teeth.

Scheffer informed the general his orders were to fight on, and a quarter of an hour later the armistice came to an end.

Australian Sees Victory As Near

Director-General For War
Procurement Supplies,
For Australia In Pittsburgh

JAPAN PECULIAR LAND HE REPORTS

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 25.—(INS)—"Victory is just over the horizon," in the opinion of L. R. MacGregor, director-general of war procurement supplies for Australia.

In Pittsburgh on a tour of the nation's great industrial centers, the gray-haired Australian declared he thought the "major job" has been done, thanks to the wholehearted cooperation among the United Nations.

The people from down under, he said, do not feel that their theater of war has been overlooked, but to the contrary "your generals and admirals have got along admirably with our political and administrative officials." This, he explained, included everyone from Gen. Douglas MacArthur down to the "doughboys, who have captured 10,000 Australian girls" in marriage.

Made Visit To Japan

MacGregor, who last visited his homeland just three months ago, has held government positions for many years and before the war went on a mission to Japan.

"It was a peculiar land," he recalled. "One of sharp contrasts, one in which the high veneer of western civilization always seemed in sharp contrast with the old imperial regime."

At the time, he said, he made particular note of how every acre of available Nipponese land had been put to use—"even though it was mostly ploughed by hand."

He also noted that the Japanese had no respect whatsoever for any type of foreign trade-marks, registrations or patents.

"On some articles we even found the royal emblem of England—that of King George," he said.

panion, Mrs. Howard Merlino, came to Baker's penthouse apartment to complain against the racket and "floored" Baker's maid when she attempted to bar their entrance. This brought Baker into action, the police account said, and Baker was ready with a question:

"What are you doing here?"

The police record reveals no reply, but discloses that Baker "prompted" with blows to the intruder's head, and adds that Baker's guests joined in the fray. Mrs.

Merlino said she was "kicked." Gutman was given emergency treatment at a hospital.

However, no one preferred any charges and police wrote off the whole episode as "one of those things."

Farm Machinery Inventions May Entail Danger

Postwar Planners Are Apprehensive
Over Markets For Huge
Production

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(INS)—New farm machinery inventions ready for post war adoption were viewed by some members of congress Thursday as dangerous to agricultural picture unless new markets are found for the increased production certain to result.

Apprehension of postwar planners over production of farm products stemmed from an agriculture department official's testimony before a special house postwar planning subcommittee that "many new machines are headed for adoption along with further use of known improvements."

Sherman E. Johnson of the bureau of agriculture economics told the committee that among the new machines are the mechanical cotton picker, improved cotton stripper, rice combines, flame cultivators, hay driers and manure loaders.

He said that if the annual decrease in horse and mule numbers that is now under way continues until 1950 there would be available another eight to ten million acres of crop and pasture land on which to produce food.

Rep. Wolcott (R) Mich., a member of the house committee, declared "it doesn't paint a good picture for agriculture unless new uses are found for the increased amount of products."

Rep. Mordock (D) Ariz., maintained that "the farmers of America can produce more food and fiber than America can eat or wear."

He agreed with Wolcott that the answer to the problem lies in "Chemurgy," the process of establishing industrial uses for agricultural products.

"Everything depends on the consumer's buying power," Rep. Voorhis (D) Cal., contended. "Improvements in agricultural machinery will be bad—they will make matters worse, unless we have sense enough to maintain a high level of buying power to take increased production off the markets."

At present, through congressional authorization, laboratories have been established in Cal., Ill., La., and Pa., to work out new uses for agricultural products.

Local Navy Gunner Gets Jap Souvenirs

Interesting Souvenirs Captured By John Melichar Are Displayed Here

Mr. and Mrs. John Melichar of 411 Florence avenue received a package of captured Jap souvenirs sent by their son, John M. Melichar, G. M. 2-c, M. T. B., who has completed combat battles somewhere in the New Guinea area.

Included among the "interesting" collection are three Jap flags, two larger ones with the familiar rising sun emblem, a smaller rising sun flag, and a silk Jap scarf with Japanese designs.

Name plates from a Jap Zero were sent home, also, instruments from the panel of a Jap Zero; an empty shell, Japanese money, including coins and bills. A white, braided belt was sent home, and probably will be worn by the young gunner's sisters, for the belt is in excellent condition.

John is now on a much needed rest somewhere in Australia. He tells his parents in a letter that he has seen many dead Japs. The navy gunner has been in the service for two years this past July 13, and for the past year has been serving overseas. He has been in several combat battles.

A brother, Cyril C. Melichar, Ph. M. 1-c, U. S. naval base hospital, is also in the service of the navy, stationed somewhere overseas. He has been in the service for two years this past June 24.

The Jap collection is now on display in Waldman's store window on East Washington street.

Miners Scheduled To Resume Work

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 25.—(INS)—Four thousand miners employed by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company in Schuylkill county were scheduled to resume anthracite production today after voting to end an eight-week-old strike in four collieries. Miners at the Maple Hill colliery voted to end the walkout, which began June 29, after President Roosevelt ordered the mines seized and operated by the Federal government. Workers in the St. Nicholas, Mahanoy City and Knickerbocker collieries endorsed the back-to-work move.

Company officials estimated that more than $1,250,000 in wages and approximately a half-million tons of anthracite were lost during the strike.

Says Government Suing Own Road

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 25.—(INS)—George P. McNear, who was ousted from his duties as president of the Toledo, Peoria and Western Railroad when it was seized by the government in March, 1942, said today it appeared anomalous for the government to be suing one of its own properties.

When the government filed a suit Wednesday in Lincoln, Neb., accusing a group of railroads, rail executives and associations and investment houses of anti-trust law violations, it included the T. P. & W., which it had been operating more than two years. McNear said: "It looks like the government is meeting itself coming around the corner."

Soldier Vote In County To Delay Final Results

Close Home Vote Might Be Upset By Returns From Service Ballots

Candidates for office this year are going to be interested not only in the returns from the seventh of the second or the first of the eighth or the third of Wayne township. They are going to be interested in the vote from New Guinea, from Saipan, from Panama, from France, and from Germany.

With 6500 military ballots from Lawrence county in the mail, the service vote might very easily be the deciding factor in a race that otherwise would be an easy win for a candidate.

How the service men and women will vote, in what proportion and for whom, is something only they can ask. If sixty per cent of the 6500 vote, or 3900, and they voted fairly well together, it could mean victory for a candidate who seemed to be defeated when the table was made up the morning after election.

Dopesters are estimating a total vote of 24,000 in Lawrence county this year from civilians. What effect the votes of the 6500 or a large proportion of them would mean can easily be seen.

It all adds up to this in Lawrence county. Unless the candidates who appear to be winners have a lead that is large they may be in for a case of jitters until about November 22nd, when the military ballots will be opened and counted.

Unfortunately for the candidates they can't make speeches or hand out cards or matches to the men and women scattered over the world. Buying war bonds might help.

Nelson Confers With President

At White House Thursday Prior To Departure On Trip To China

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(INS)—Donald Nelson, War Production Board chief, on Thursday held an hour's conference with President Roosevelt preliminary to his forthcoming departure for China on a special mission for the president.

Nelson was uncommunicative as he left the White House regarding his talk other than to say that he made a farewell call prior to leaving for the far east on his mission with Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley.

Nelson was asked concerning reports following his appointment to the special mission, that it meant a step-down in his job as chief of war production.

"The president's statement said all there was to say about that," Nelson said.

The statement he referred to was issued by the president in refutation of reports that Nelson was being shoved aside in the War Production Board set-up. Mr. Roosevelt stated emphatically that there was no truth in such reports.

"Then you don't consider your appointment to this mission as a kick in the teeth," a reporter asked.

Nelson retorted:

"No, of course not."

Ohio State Prison Escape Plot Nipped

Four Convicts All Classed As 'Dangerous' Found Digging Way Out Of Prison

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 25.—(INS)—An elaborate plot of several Ohio state penitentiary inmates to dig their way out of the prison was frustrated Thursday.

Warden Frank D. Henderson said the convicts had about 100 feet still to dig when a raid by guards Wednesday night resulted in the discovery of four inmates coming from the tunnel entrance in the basement below the prison kitchen.

The four convicts, all described by Warden Henderson as "dangerous men," were identified as Douglas Bonecutter, 24, who was sentenced for rape; George Wells, 26-year-old Akron murderer serving a life sentence; Fred Parsley, 26, who was serving a life sentence for an Ironton, O., holdup murder; and Don Browning, 23-year-old Ironton, O., robber.

Warden Henderson said the convicts had been digging the tunnel for some time and that prison officials were aware of the tunnel but postponed interruption until the inmates could be caught in the act.

The tunnel, Henderson said, started in a 30-inch ventilating duct, cut through the foundation of the prison kitchen, crossed beneath a 18-foot alley, and led eight feet through the foundation of the prison's industrial arts building at the time of the interruption Wednesday night.

Navy Officials Issue Rules For Christmas Mail

Facing the mammoth problem of delivering to Naval personnel throughout the world an estimated 25 million Christmas packages to be mailed in the period between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15, Navy officials today issued an appeal for observance of three rules. They are:

1. Address it correctly.
2. Wrap it securely.
3. Mail it on time.

Incorrect addresses caused 15 per cent of all Christmas packages sent last year to be delayed from 60 days to six months.

Wrapping must be secure, because packages will travel tremendous distances to Aitutia and to Tulagi, to Oran and to Saipan, to Naples and Cherbourg—to every ship, every outpost, and every beachhead held by Navy personnel. They will travel through a variety of climates; they may easily travel 10,333 miles by truck and by train, by plane and by amphibious craft, by plane and by hand. And they may be rehandled innumerable times before they finally reach the men for whom they are intended.

Rules for the overseas package are that it must not weigh more than 5 pounds, be more than 15 inches in length or be more than 36 inches in length and girth combined. As an added precaution against the outside wrapper becoming damaged, it is requested that a tag with the address repeated and a list of items included in the package be placed inside the package. Address should be printed in ink or typed.

Probably Needed Time To Think It All Over Easiest Way Is To Forget All About It

Doctor's Definition Leaves Most Persons Out Of 'Mentally Fit' Class

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Aug. 25.—(INS)—Explaining that increased wartime tensions have taxed people's mental and emotional strength to an unprecedented degree, Dr. Clifford R. Adams, psychologist at the Pennsylvania State college, has offered a series of suggestions for keeping "mentally fit."

The mentally fit person, as defined by Dr. Adams, is one who gets along well with other people, is successful in his work, has a satisfactory home life, profits from experience, respects authority and social customs, faces problems, accepts responsibility for his own acts, and is predictable.

Physical Health Important
According to Dr. Adams, who is associate professor of education and psychology at Penn state, top-note physical health is important in securing A-1 mental health. He advocates the "scientific approach" in solution of personal problems, stressing the importance of being honest and objective with yourself.

"Rather than worry over a problem and, consequently, magnify its importance," he said, "face situations as they arise. Compare what you want with what you'll have to do to attain it, analyze your motives, and then fill in the gaps," he advised.

Rest and recreation he listed as important factors in keeping mentally fit, adding that social participation—especially when it involves a family group—is often a successful antidote for worry.

Brownell Sees Big Labor Vote For Gov. Dewey

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(INS)—Herbert Brownell, Jr., national GOP chairman, predicted today that because workers believe a Dewey-Bricker administration "would provide post-war jobs instead of a dole" and because of resentment against the CIO political action committee, the Republican ticket will get the largest labor vote in many years.

Brownell made his prediction at a news conference upon his return from Washington where he conferred with Republican senators and representatives. He said he left the capital convinced that the GOP would gain control of both houses of congress in the November election.

"Labor groups realize they have a great deal at stake and they are furnishing leadership in the campaign to expose the drive by the pac to gain control of the labor movement," Brownell said.

"One reason for the workers' trend toward the Republican ticket is that they believe Dewey and Bricker will furnish real jobs in the post-war era instead of any makeshift dole."

"The workers realize that under the New Deal no constructive program to solve the lack of jobs in the Roosevelt depression was carried into effect."

Public Denunciation
Brownell pointed out that the American Federation of Labor and railroad brotherhood officials had publicly denounced "the open drive of the Hillman-Browder faction to dominate the entire New Deal campaign."

He said the rank and file of labor understand the Dewey-Bricker program to see that private industry makes jobs available in the post-war era under an administration that is sympathetic to labor.

Brownell said the Reps. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, minority house leader and Charles Hellock of Indiana, chairman of the GOP congressional campaign committee, had emphatically predicted that Republicans would gain control of the house.

He added that John Townsend, former U. S. Senator from Delaware who is chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, expressed the opinion that the Republicans have "an excellent chance to capture 11 seats which will give them control of the upper house."

Dissension among New Dealers has greatly increased during the past month, Brownell said.

In the matter of labor support for the Dewey-Bricker ticket, Brownell said that a poll of the national scene revealed a terrific split among the Democrats, with the Communist-dominated CIO political action committee fighting for party control with the Hannegan-Truman forces.

Bank Robbery Is Profitable No More

FBI Steps In And Spoils Happy
Hunting Ground Of Nation's Bandits

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 25.—(INS)—Bank robberies in the United States have declined from an average of almost a dozen a week to less than two a month.

H. T. O'Connor, special agent in charge of the Pittsburgh office of the FBI, stated in revealing the bank robbery record for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1944:

"Bank robberies in 1932 totaled 666," he said. "In 1934, the FBI was given jurisdiction. It tackled the problem on a national basis and was unhampered by boundary restrictions which had limited the efforts of local officers. The rate began going down and during 1943 we had 22 robbery cases in the entire United States."

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has made bank robbery one of the most dangerous criminal professions. But O'Connor revealed that a few bandits of the 1930's escaped capture and are still being hunted.

"These fellows are just strays we missed in the big roundup," he said. "Some are desperate and dangerous. They are liable to be found anywhere."

Nazi Air Force Is Increasing Nearer Germany

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 25.—(INS)—The Nazi air force is coming up in increasing strength as the tide of battle flows east towards Germany, official sources disclosed today.

Fifty German planes which tried to interfere with the allied blasting of Seine ferries and communications were shot down yesterday in the general area from Sens north-west to the mouth of the Seine, they said.

More than half were shot down in one engagement northeast of Paris when group Capt. Johnny Johnson's Canadian Spitfire wing tackled a formation of 80 ME 109s and FW 190s.

The Canadians sent 32 down in flames. Their own losses were four. Johnson scored two more kills, to bring his total to 37.

American Lightnings operating over other sectors of France shot down 13 and lost an equal number, bringing the total for the day to 56 Germans destroyed for the loss of 17 allied planes. Twelve more enemy planes were damaged, bringing the total German losses for two days to 81.

Three Fined For Numbers Activity

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 25.—(INS)—Red-haired Margaret Mullen and two men were fined and placed on probation for one year Thursday on their pleas of guilty to operating a numbers lottery.

Miss Mullen is a sister of Ppt. Thomas Mullen, who admitted writing numbers while on furlough last month and was paroled until after the war.

At the same time, Thomas Mangle was fined $100 and Louis Vacco was fined $200.

Improved ear protectors known as "ear wardens" have been developed from a special neoprene compound for use by navy gunners, aviators and submarine crews.

Woman Confesses Embezzling Funds

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 25.—Mrs. Ursula Beam, 34, of Monongahela, Thursday admitted she embezzled $4,300 of her employer's money to play the stock market and pay a doctor bill.

Last week, when she pleaded guilty of charges of embezzlement and fraudulent conversion, she told Judge Sara M. Soffel she couldn't remember what she did with the money.

Mrs. Beam said she first took $242 to pay the doctor and gave the rest to a Cleveland man who promised to win the $242 back in the stock market.

Mrs. Beam was placed on probation for three years and ordered to make restitution to the William J. Kappel Real Estate company.

More than four million troops and 63 million ship-tons of supplies were transferred from the U. S. to 127 overseas ports in the 31-month period from December 1941 through June 1944.

Says Lend-Lease Will Continue After War's End

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Leo Crowley, foreign economics administrator, told congress Thursday that lend-lease probably will be continued to Russia, France and England after Germany is defeated.
This aid, he said, in testimony before the senate was investigating committee, may include both military goods and products necessary to sustain a civilian economy.
Asked specifically to comment on news reports that Great Britain would ask for lend-lease after Germany is crushed, Crowley said no applications have been received as yet.
"You do have a responsibility after a German collapse if the Allies continue to help you against Japan," he said. "Lend-lease may be necessary to help Russia, England, France to end the Japanese war. I assume that as we get rid of Germany the dollars and cents aid would be less."

Continue Policy
Crowley said his policy would be to continue lend-lease military aid. "Then," he said, on the question of food or products for civilian economy, "we assume over a period of time the Allies can produce some civilian goods if the German war is over, but it is going to be necessary to help them with food and things in the transition period."
"You just can't cut them off and leave them on their own or they couldn't hold up their end of the war against Japan."

"Under present arrangements we give food to Great Britain, she sells it to her people and she may use some of the money to buy food from Argentina," said Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich. "Will that be continued?"
"You just can't generalize," replied Oscar Cox, counsel for Crowley and the FEA. "We will continue the same method as far as principle is involved."
Sen. James Mead (D) N. Y., chairman of the committee, voiced fear that the United States is being "gyped" in airport deals with Canada. There is no lend-lease agreement with Canada.
He said the United States and Canada agreed to divide 50-50 in building air fields in Newfoundland and also one at Goose Bay, Labrador. Now, he said, it is reported Canada wants to pay entirely for the Goose Bay, Labrador, airport and keep it.
"It happened that the Commercial Air Lines want to use Goose Bay after the war," Mead said.
Differing with Crowley, Sen. George (D) Ga., co-author of the original lend-lease act, said that lend-lease must stop with the end of the war under terms of the law.

Family Of America's Leading Ace Gets Word He Is Prisoner Of Germany

OIL CITY, Pa., Aug. 25.—(INS)—Lt. Col. Francis S. Gabreski, America's leading air ace, is a prisoner of war in Germany, his family was notified Thursday by the War Department.
Last July 29th, the secretary of war informed his parents the pilot, who has 31 enemy aircraft to his credit—28 in the air and three on the ground—was missing.
Shortly before he was captured by the Germans, the former student at Notre Dame had written his family, saying that he had completed his allotted number of missions and that he expected to arrive home "almost any time."
In anticipation of his return, Oil City residents had built up a large fund for a "homecoming celebration" and had made definite plans to honor the hero.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 25.—The Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council (CIO) has surveyed the voting records of 258 general assemblymen to define legislators friendly to labor.
"Right votes weighed against wrong votes gave the legislator's public rating as a faithful or faithless public servant," the council stated.
The council has launched a campaign in cooperation with the CIO's political action committee to purge legislators not sympathetic to labor.
The study, conducted by the council's "non-partisan labor legislation bureau," covers the past 10 years.
"Congress votes cover foreign policy, especially in preparedness to meet the menace of Hitler and Japanese dictatorships," it was explained. "Domestic policy is covered particularly by votes on measures to lick the industrial depression, accept collective bargaining for industrial peace, win decent living conditions and establish social security for the common welfare."
The state survey was much broader, "State records," the council explained, "show the contrast between votes on measures calculated to promote progress as against standards which opposed fair work standards for women and child labor, sound taxation, adequate workmen's compensation and unemployment compensation, respect for labor's rights, civil service, public education, and similar liberal humane legislation."

Babson Says Overtime Wages Are On Decline

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright—1944—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.

BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug. 25.—For the year 1943 total industrial wages and salaries, without including incomes of those employed in agricultural enterprises amounted to $89,500,000,000. Of this, some $12,000,000,000, or approximately 13 1/2 per cent represented overtime work. If the above workers had not benefited from overtime they would have earned only $77,500,000,000.

Overtime Out
While the war lasts, manufacturers cannot complain too much at the high cost of labor. As a matter of fact, currently high wages, including overtime, are a direct operational cost and in the instance of most war contracts the government pays the bill. However, in the final analysis, it is really the taxpayer who foots these charges.

When the big war contracts are a thing of the past, manufacturers will not have their present high volume of business, while selling expenses will be much higher. Their first step, however, will be to cut out overtime. In fact, overtime is already on the way out.

Work Hours May Be Raised
During World War I industry was averaging a 50-hour week. During World War II the normal work-week has been reduced to 40 hours with overtime paid for anything in excess of that. During the last great boom industry averaged better than 48 hours a week. Not until the New Dealers with their ideas of "spreading work" and indirectly raising wages got busy did we hear anything about 40 hours a week. Hence, I beg wage earners to save money now. Build up savings bank accounts. Hourly wage rates may hold up; but most of you will get much less in your pay envelopes.

Technological progress has made it possible to turn out more production during a shorter work-week. New and more efficient machinery can produce more in a given period; but actually, even during our critical 40-day days, these machines have not been permitted to work on a capacity load. With overtime out workers themselves may insist on a 44 or 48-hour week and they may get it. But if they do they will be expected to work and to keep the machinery working. Slow-downs will not be tolerated after the war.

More Or Less Leisure?
Competition in all lines will be the outstanding factor as we emerge from the transition period of war to peacetime operation. This competition will not be merely a domestic issue but will be world-wide. There will be no place in our peacetime economy for the idle, lazy or inefficient; everyone must work.

Very large domestic and foreign markets will exist for U. S. goods. In view of this I believe, given a chance, that the question of employment may largely solve itself. Workers themselves, with or without benefit of their unions, must choose whether they want more leisure or a larger share of consumer goods which a longer work-week—without overtime—can provide.

Price Versus Wage Rates
The average consumer has learned to get along during the war on less than he had before the war. Hence, if the prices of goods rise too high and get out of line with salaries and dividends we are apt to see "buyers' strikes" rather than wage-worker-strikes. White-collar workers have taken it on the chin in recent years. As a group, they have nothing to look forward to in the way of salary increase. Hence, prices of goods must be kept within reach of their pocketbooks.

A return to a free movement of wages and prices with a recognition of supply and demand, rather than to a continuance of political and man-made laws, is in order. Unfortunately, most of us learn only by experience when evaluating hours of work, wages and production schedules. These matters are, however, definitely a part of our reconversion program. The war will be brought to a successful conclusion by our military leaders. I hope our postwar plans will be as successfully handled by our political leaders.

Says Most G.I.'s Will Return Home Healthy

GROVE CITY, Aug. 25.—Stating that only two per cent of this nation's fighting men require medical care, Dr. Milton E. Staub, medical officer assigned to the Naval Training school at Grove City College, told Rotary club members that their sons had a 99 per cent chance of coming back whole.

Doctor Staub spoke from many months of service on the battle-front. He said preliminary training and conditioning had made the American soldier a fine physical specimen, able to withstand hardships, and that medical attention was available at all points. Modern science has worked wonders in this war to reduce the death rate, he said, pointing out that hospital facilities are within minutes of practically every war front.

French Armored Columns Move On Toward Paris

By RICHARD TREGASKIS
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

A TOWN NEAR PARIS, Aug. 24.—(Delayed)—French armored columns have been clattering through this town—once the site of a famed salon in the time of Marie Antoinette—all night, and they are hurrying.

All night long you could hear them muttering through backroads running through the countryside. They were rushing because French resistance elements in Paris sent word that ammunition was getting low and that the Germans, holed up with slight forces in the city, were getting bolder, sending armored cars into parts of the city where French resistance elements were concentrated.

A French lieutenant running a dangerous but lightly held gantlet around Paris said this morning that the Germans hold the place De La Concorde firmly and are able to send out marauding armored cars to shoot up the French on the streets "for the sake of terror."

French resistance forces made a strong point of an island in the Seine—the famed Isle de Paris, which has been compared with a ship, and now a battleship. As long as the ammunition holds out this island seems safe.

Snag Is Struck

It appeared today that the Free French armored columns and American infantry driving for Paris have struck a snag: It was expected that they would be able to enter the city without resistance, but a German rear guard fanning in a circle between the elbows of the Seine from Trappes on the northeast to Juvisy has slowed up the advance.

At Juvisy Allied forces encountered larger minefields than were expected and a concentration of tanks along the road.

Yesterday was like a carnival with the first arriving armored elements racing through the streets with red and white flowers in their helmets while the crowds cheered. People in the streets repeated joyfully that we were going to reach Paris. Everyone seemed unbelievably naive about it all and accordingly the fundamental fact that rear guard forces had been stationed along the roads, and in accordance with usual German defensive tactics, minefields and barbed wire also.

Situation Realized

Now we have realized the situation, but once the infantry moves in and knocks out a few German tanks and self-propelled guns, Paris is ours.

Within the city the Germans hold the Champs de Mars, Champs Elysees, and the Place de Concorde. Resistance elements reported that tanks from these German held centers were sending a few units into the rest of the city.

French forces hold the majority of the suburbs, including Chatillon, Boulogne and Issy.

Inside the French capital resistance forces reported that ammunition was growing short, but that they had light automatic weapons and grenades with which they were wreaking havoc among the Nazis.

Wiener Roast At West Side Field

Playgrounders Keep Warm With Bonfire While Wieners Sizzle
On Thursday Evening

Time spent gathering firewood for the bonfire was rewarded with sizzling wieners covered with mustard or catsup, relish and onions at the West side playground's wiener roast Thursday evening.

Arriving at eight o'clock, the picnicers began roasting their wieners, washing them down with cold cokes in spite of the coolness of the evening. Because so many more turned out than were expected, the supplies held out for only two rounds, and some of the larger appetites were not completely satisfied.

Playground apparatus attracted some of the children for a while, but the temperature kept most of them close to the campfire, singing old and new songs. Although the party spirit was still strong at ten o'clock, the fire was stamped out and the evening was over.

Miss Gene McIlvaine, playground supervisor, was assisted by Miss Nancy Rugh and Miss Edythe Norris.

'Can't Tell When War Will End'

President Says Forecasts
Are Merely Guesses—
Has No Idea, He Adds

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—President Roosevelt said today that no man living could tell when the war may end.

Any guesses as to when Germany or Japan may collapse are pure speculation, he told his news conference.

The president was asked if he could give any idea, in view of the rapid progress of the American and British armies in France, of when Germany might collapse.

Mr. Roosevelt said no, that he couldn't, that he had been extremely careful about making any guesses about such a thing and that he is about the only person in the world that he knows of who hasn't set a time for the end of the war.

He was then asked whether he could give any guess as to how long it might take to defeat Japan after Germany is knocked out of the war.

To this the president replied that anything he might say in regard to the end of the war would be pure speculation on his part. The whole thing is guesswork, he added.

County C. E. Honors Miss T. Bumbaugh

Members of the executive committee of the Lawrence County Christian Endeavor Union, gave a surprise party on Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gaston, King avenue. The occasion was in honor of Miss Thelma Bumbaugh, publicity and literature superintendent. Miss Bumbaugh will enter Hiram college, Ohio, on September 8.

Misses Mary Elizabeth Norris, Thelma Thompson, Aleta Montgomery and Mrs. Gaston were in charge of arrangements.

Misses Madge Neely, Thompson and Montgomery supervised the games played on the lawn.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Leora McCommon.

James Shaw, president, presented the honored guest with a lovely gift on behalf of the group.

Safety, First Idea In Attire Of Women Workers In Industries Of City

If one of the first rules of styles in any circle of society is that a woman's clothes should suit the occasion, then the working women of the local industrial concerns are among the best dressed women in the country.

Their clothes are designed with safety and practicality as the prime consideration, just as the clothes of a debutante are designed with glamour as the keynote. White cuffs and drawstring blouses may be all right for the office girl, but not for the one who runs a buffing machine.

Purpose In It

You've seen them coming from work wearing dark cover-alls and snoods to keep back their hair, and perhaps you thought they just didn't want to wear their better clothes to work. Instead of that, each part of the dress "is the way it is" for a very definite reason.

For example, at the Aluminum company, the girls wear navy-blue over-alls, trimly fitted at the waist. The pockets are designed not to bag and the sleeves are short so that there is nothing to catch in

NAMED VICE PRESIDENT

Orville Potter, register and recorder, is back from the annual state convention of the organization. John T. Bolen, register of wills for Philadelphia county, was named president of the organization, and Mr. Potter was named vice president. The convention discussed methods of operation, exchanged views and made suggestions for more efficient handling of public business that passes through the offices of the registers of wills and recorders of Deeds.

HUNTING LICENSES IN

Hunting licenses are now available in the office of County Treasurer Frank W. Hill. The season is some time away yet, but the wise hunter this year will get his license early.

POST-WAR PLANS

Looking toward post-war planning, the county commissioners are now considering a number of projects which may be put through after the war with aid from the federal and state governments.

Tentatively the commissioners have listed projects totalling $135,000. Among the projects being considered is an allocation of $50,000 for highways, roads and streets. There is some thought of improving some of the side roads in the county which are township roads.

Another tentative allocation is that of $25,000 for bridges, viaducts and grade crossing elimination. Among the bridges which need attention is the East Washington street bridge. Others may be improved.

A sum of $5,000 is tentatively set for improvements in the sewer, water and sanitary facilities of the county home. A sum of $40,000 is tentatively made do for building improvements. In his category would be a new detention home. Finally, an item of $15,000 is seen for miscellaneous public building work.

This would mean the painting of county buildings and improvements of the court rooms.

Ready for School . . . but not equipped

Without good vision your child's straining eyes will see only blurred letters. Reading will come hard, progress slow. Grades will be humiliating.

Don't let your child continue school with the handicap of faulty eyesight. Make certain that he will have full ability to see as well as his mates. Remember, those young eyes are his door to learning . . . 83% of his life's knowledge must reach him through his eyes.

Have them checked, or rechecked, if it hasn't been done quite recently. And be satisfied with nothing less than the best in scientific professional service. You're doing your youngster a lifetime service when you protect their eyes now.

Woman Reporter Nearly Captured By Nazi Forces

(In the following eye-witness story, Lee Carson, International News Service Staff Correspondent, tells of a narrow escape from capture by the Nazis. Miss Carson is the first newspaperwoman to cover the American armies in France.)

By LEE CARSON
(U.S.A. Staff Correspondent)

RAMBOUILLET, France, Aug. 25.—Monday at two o'clock in the morning the Germans started turning to this town and a guard awakened me and ordered me to dress immediately and join in a strange little band down stairs. As I had no time to get my shaking hands, I pulled on my boots and trousers. While I was dressing, I heard a sharp crack of rifle fire followed by a brief stutter of machine guns. Then there was the ragged purr of a vehicle down the road.

With my shoes dangling I skidded down the stairway as black as the inside of an inkwell, and felt my way along the wall to a room where Ernest Hemingway was at a window keeping watch on the road.

There were no lights but I could see two men and the muzzle of their Tommy guns silhouetted in the window.

Below in the rain-soaked courtyard was our parked vehicle in which we planned to escape along the road to the south.

A low urgent rapping announced the entrance of Auguste, leader of the local French underground, with two bearded, drenched Frenchmen in some sort of dark blue uniform.

"These two men have just come from Paris," Auguste said. "It is very bad in there, with the French forces of the interior fighting the Vichy pigs and the Germans who still are well equipped."

All of the public utilities are cut off and there is no electricity, food or government," Auguste continued.

There is complete anarchy. The FFI has been waiting there since the fifteenth and we thought the Americans were coming in tonight so we rose up and started fighting."

We went down the second stairway by the flickering light of a shaded candle. At the entrance of the little hotel we found a group of men curled in sleep on the floor. They are wearing the red and white arm bands of the FFI. Two men were slumped sleepily over a light machine gun in the doorway.

A low burst of French greeted Hemingway who answered in the same language.

Germans Near
The runner from the patrol then told us that the Germans had pulled off the road into the bushes. The evening before the confusion was terrific. From out of nowhere a strange mixed grill of soldiers, psychological warfare specialists, correspondents and other Yanks materialized. There were two AWOL paratroopers who explained they were there because they "just wanted to fight."

Then they got into a wine supply and had to be disarmed and locked in a tea house adjoining the hotel.

There were also some French commandos in their red berets, a few very secretive British army officers, increasing numbers of FFI irregulars armed with rifles, army newspaper photographers, some well-dressed, snappy DeGaulle officers and a handful of American enlisted men driving jeeps.

At the gates of the hotel courtyard the entire town was hanging around, speculating in low voices on coming events.

Hemingway, who had "taken" the town late the previous day with a handful of FFI irregulars, was the hero of the citizenry of Rambouillet. They identified him as being at the very least the leader of the American army.

We waited the rain drizzled down and nothing happened. Around 6 o'clock a murky light in the east heralded the dawn. The vigil was over.

We collapsed into our sleeping bags on the floor. I crawled in, fully clothed, for a final nap.

At 8 o'clock armored units roared past under our windows. The United States army had come to the rescue and, without stopping, rolled through the town and out along the road where the frightened Germans were waiting—for what, only they knew.

That portion of the state of Montana east of the Continental Divide was once part of Louisiana and later of Dakota. The portion west of the divide was in turn a part of Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

Patrol Shots
"Sorry to wake you up in the middle of the night," Hemingway said, "but those shots were from the patrols posted up the roads ahead."

Nazi Collapse Would Reduce War Expenses

By WILLIAM THEIS
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Chairmen of the House of appropriations and military affairs committees predicted today that a collapse of Germany in the next 60 days would eliminate the need for any "new" appropriation to support the American army of World War II.

Both Rep. Cannon (D) Mo., appropriations committee head, and Rep. May (D) Ky., chairman of the military committee, said they believed the army could operate in the next fiscal year on funds already voted by Congress.

Reductions Foreseen

Even though the war against Japan would continue and fresh funds still might have to be provided for the navy, said Cannon, huge cutbacks in war department expenditures would be made possible immediately by early defeat of Germany.

"I don't believe Congress would have to appropriate a dollar of new money to the army if the war in Europe ends in the next month or two," May declared.

Cannon was of the opinion that not only would no "new" funds be required for the army in the next supply bill but that large sums already provided could be impounded.

Savings Effected

Both House leaders pointed to the fact that the war department in the fiscal year which ended last June had effected "savings" of twenty-seven billion dollars. Thus, with other refunds, the forty-nine billion dollar army supply bill for fiscal 1945 contained only fifteen billion 435 million dollars of new funds. The thirty-three billion 700 million dollar balance as a re-appropriation.

"If the surrender of Germany comes in September or early October it would be possible to make some very material savings," Cannon observed. "We may be able to impound billions. It would be a process of 'de-appropriation.'"

House appropriations experts say it is impossible to estimate in dollars the amount which might be saved specifically by a Nazi surrender in the coming weeks. They note, however, that appropriations and authorizations always are well in advance of actual expenditures. The 1945 budget report showed earlier this month that while 392 billion 600 million dollars had been authorized between June 1940 and June 1945 only 289 billion 800 million had been spent up to the latter date.

Wampum Sends Paper To Town's Soldiers

Wampum has its own newspaper now, but it's not for the average citizen of the town. "The Newssette", a mimeographed monthly news sheet, is sent to Wampum service men by the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Wampum Methodist church.

Circulation of the popular little paper has jumped from sixty-five to over a hundred in its four months of publication, and letters have been coming in from camps in this country and foxholes overseas thanking the group for their morale-building work.

Besides jokes and news of other servicemen, "The Newssette" brings to the soldier information about townspeople he knows about Sunday school picnics he used to attend, and horse shows he used to ride in. And once in a while the sheet even has a picture of the editor in chief, Rev. K. Theodore Yahn. Others on the staff are Doris Tobay, editor, and Maxine Thewes, associate editor.

Submarines can sink safely to a depth of approximately 300 feet.

SACKS ARRIVE FOR MILKWEED

Bags In Which Milk Weed Pods Will Be Gathered Have Been Received

Chairman John C. Syling, who has charge of the arrangements for gathering milkweed pods in Lawrence county, is using the armed forces of our country, announced today that 1,000 bags in which the crop from Lawrence county will be gathered, have arrived and are now ready for distribution.

Chairman Syling cautions those who expect to take part that they must not pick the pods until they are ripe, however, as the floss inside must be picked at the proper time to be useful. The date on which the pods can be gathered will be announced. Careful watch is being kept to ascertain when that time arrives.

After gathering the pods must be hung up to dry for a certain period, after which they will be received at a central point here and shipped to their destination.

The quota for the state of Pennsylvania is 80,000 sacks, so it is imperative that Lawrence county fill its quota of 1,000 sacks. Those who gather the pods will receive a fair price for their efforts.

VOLANT AND LEESBURG WILL PLAY TONIGHT
Volant and Leesburg will cross bats in a game at the Volant baseball field this evening, which prove an interesting contest because of the rivalry between the two opposing teams.

Building Boom In Industrial Field Forecast Today

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 25.—(INS)—Scientifically-designed mass production will create the greatest volume of industrial building and the greatest employment of construction workers ever seen in this country in the first three to five years after the war, it was asserted today by S. M. Rust, Jr., vice president of the Rust Engineering company.

Rust pointed out that thousands of inquiries and orders for designs of new plants and alterations of existing plants have been, and are being, received by engineering firms throughout the country.

"Contrary to popular belief," he added, "our tremendous construction of war plants will not halt or make unnecessary extensive post-war industrial building.

"The effect will be just the opposite. The huge competitive potentialities of these plants will force industrial managements to modernize to the limit and to build many entirely new plants in order to stay in the running."

A new use has been found for the Army ordnance jeep. A British surgeon was recently reported to have inserted a rubber part from a jeep into the neck of a wounded Commando, so that it would serve as an air tube permitting him to breathe. The Commando was said to have recovered.

Scheduled Blackout Is Not Assured

HARRISBURG, Aug. 25.—(INS)—The State Defense Council notified county chairmen today that the scheduled statewide blackout test prior to September 1 no longer was assured.

"In a bulletin we informed you that an air raid drill would be called by the army before September 1," Dr. Ralph C. Hutchison, director, told the chairmen. "No such drill is now assured before September 1 and we have no information as to when such will be called. A council spokesman said the bulletin was mailed July 20 after the receipt of an army notice that a blackout drill would be held before September 1.

TAXPAYERS PAY

UNIONTOWN, Pa.—(INS)—Crime doesn't pay, Fayette county officials stated, but taxpayers do. Fayette county's bill for the first six months of 1944 was $1,058 for maintenance of inmates of the Allegheny county workhouse and inebriate asylum and $1,094 for those in western penitentiary.

Browns-Tigers Start Series

Important Series In Detroit Today, Yanks And Red Sox Licking Chops

BROWNS FACE SEVEREST TEST

By JOHN CASHMAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(INS)—The American League series you have been waiting for—the one which will help to dispel the element of doubt in the 1944 race—will begin today when the leading St. Louis Browns, fighting to protect a 4½ game lead, meet the onslaught of the Detroit Tigers.

Definitely in a better position for advancement, and hoping desperately the Browns are knocked off by the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox, who meet the two weakest sisters in the loop. The Red Sox, in second place, take on the seventh-place Philadelphia Athletics in an opening double-header and the Yankees, in third place, clash with the last-place Washington Senators in an afternoon contest which opens a four-game clash.

Browns Face Test
In its essentials, the situation typically seen in the series is a strong team and a pair of good pitchers in a park where their opponents hit best, the Red Sox and Yankees face off against opponents who, up to now, have done little but fatten the averages of their adversaries. Should the Browns continue their weak spell against the Tigers, and succumb while the Yankees and Red Sox are feasting on poor opposition, it might dash the long dreams of St. Louis for an American League pennant.

The aforementioned fingers are Paul Dizzy Trout and Hal Newhouser. Both pitchers have as much rest under their respective belts as they've seen all season and are definitely dangerous to the Browns. Trout was returned to Detroit after last Sunday's game in New York and will have had the benefit of four days of loafing; Newhouser will have had at least three.

Cards Win Again
The Browns, at this stage of the game, cannot afford to miss one strike. They are under pressure as much as any team ever has been and the smallest crack in their make-up will widen into a gaping rift.

But the pressure will not be turned off once the Detroit series is over. After a brief let-down against the Indians, the Browns must once more meet the Tigers, but this time at home. If the St. Louis gang weathers the coming storm, they will have an excellent chance of maintaining their lead without much trouble for, with the exception of the three-game series at Chicago, the Browns are through with the road.

In the only big league game yesterday, Ted Wilks, sensational rookie right-hander limited the Chicago Cubs to three hits as the St. Louis Cards scored a 2-1 triumph. It was Wilks' tenth straight victory and his 13th of the season. Walker Cooper's single in the third scoring Bergamo also permitted Musial to race home with an earned run as the winning marker because Phil Cavaretta let the ball get through him.

Johnson Bronze Leading Circuit

Efforts to obtain a correct standing of the City Baseball circuit apparently is almost as difficult as trying to pick one's teeth with a claw hammer. Several teams submitted figures following yesterday's tilt but not all of them, hence it is an impossibility to present a line-up of all the teams. Teams which presented figures show the Johnson Bronze one game ahead of the Moose and I. A. M., deadlocked for second place.

Pfc. Rubels Has Envious Record

Former Croton Baseball Star Turns Softball Pitcher In England, Strikes Out 66

Pfc. Rudy Rubels, well known former first-baseman of the Croton A.C. baseball team and now with the army in France, writes home that he misses the softball games the soldiers used to play in England while waiting for the big invasion.

Pitching for his regimental team Rubels was one of the best in the league according to his record. He had 4 wins and no defeats and in the four games he fanned a total of 66 batters and allowed but nine hits in four games. He walked but six men, a very enviable record.

In one game against the company officers, Rubels was stacked up against Menendez, a Mexican flash from the West Coast League, who fanned 10, but Rubels fanned 16 and gave but two hits to win the game 2 to 1.

The local boy states in the concluding part of his letter that the fifth and deciding game of the series has been postponed indefinitely and will be played off in Berlin just as soon as conditions permit.

Pfc. Rudy is a brother of John Rubels, former local semi-pro basketball coach, Hickory High coach and employed of the U. E. & P. company.

Bowling Alleys For Deshon Hospital

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 25.—Spares and strikes will be added to the vocabulary of convalescent patients at the Army's Deshon General Hospital soon with the opening of two bowling alleys on the Post, it was announced today by Col. C. J. Gentzkow, Commanding Officer.

Lewis A. Park of Seewickley Heights, member of a well-known Pittsburgh family, donated the alleys and the building in which they are housed on his Seewickley estate. Complete with heating equipment, the building and alleys were moved to the grounds at Deshon by post engineers.

Resetting the alleys, with all the time adjustments needed to make them straight and true, was done by a leading manufacturer of bowling equipment with funds provided by Mr. Park.

Over 100 Report For Grid Season

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh Greets Squad Thursday, Practice Today

ANNUAL CAMP TO START ON MONDAY

New Castle High school 1944 football season got under way last night at Taggart Stadium as over 100 young men reported to Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh and his assistants.

Of the group reporting not any were seasoned veterans, of even reserves from last year. There is not one letterman left from the 1943 team. Missing this year are such well known stars as Lewis, Williams, McKee, Libendorfer, Newman, Sanfilippo, Izzo, Preston, Joseph, Roussos and possibly Lengyel.

Almost certain to make the camp trip are the following reserve holdovers from the 1943 team: Reed, Sallie, Pannella, Kulnis, Carey, Wimer, Betts, Hamon, Hasson, Green Garberry and Benigas.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner was on hand last night as were Assistant coaches George Thomas, Bill Klee and Paul Cuba, with Robert Stewart as material custodian again on the job.

Just how many will go to camp Monday is not known yet. The coaches will look the boys over today and Saturday at the stadium and select the boys who show up on Monday.

Dean Park Dodgers and Cozy Corners will play at Lehigh field Sunday afternoon at two o'clock in a game which should decide the second half championship. Cozy Corners have not lost a game, while Dean Park has lost two in the latter half of the league race. The game should prove a pitchers' battle, with Lefty Andrews on the mound for Cozy Corners, being opposed by Vargo for Dean Park.

Cozy Corners 203 2X-7 9 1

First Grid Game On Coast Tonight

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—(INS)—A crowd of between 40,000 and 50,000 was expected at the Coliseum tonight for the opener of the 1944 football season in southern California, the struggle between the Washington Redskins of the national professional league and the all-Americans of March Field, Cal.

The Redskins will be sparked by the king of the passers, slinging Sammy Baugh, and a rugged pair of ends—a combination expected to account for plenty of touchdowns. Proceeds of the contest will go to army charities.

Cozy Corners Move Nearer To Pennant

Defeat Wolverines With Zeigler Hurling No-Hit Game Thursday Evening

With "Fireman" Joe Zeigler hurling his second no-hit, no-run game of the season, Cozy Corners moved a step nearer the second half pennant in the American Junior league last evening by defeating the Wolverines at Washington field, 7-0. The game was called at the end of the fifth inning because of darkness.

Rhodes, Davis, Shriver and B. Zeigler had two hits apiece. Shriver and Rhodes hitting doubles, and Zeigler kicking in with a pair of two-base hits.

Dean Park Dodgers and Cozy Corners will play at Lehigh field Sunday afternoon at two o'clock in a game which should decide the second half championship. Cozy Corners have not lost a game, while Dean Park has lost two in the latter half of the league race. The game should prove a pitchers' battle, with Lefty Andrews on the mound for Cozy Corners, being opposed by Vargo for Dean Park.

Machinists Battle Shenango Pottery

Cedar street field in Mahoningtown will be filled to capacity tonight as the I. A. Machinists and Shenango Pottery tangle at 6 o'clock in the recently ordered played over 0-0 tie game.

The Machinists will have Norman "Cannonball" Bishara on the mound and opposing him will be Vargo, the Pottery ace. A win for the Machinists will just about give them the second-half title in the Industrial softball league.

At Gaston Park tonight the Standard Steel will play the P.R.R. team in a postponed league game.

HIGHLAND TOPS CHURCH GOLFERS

Upset First U. P. 4 To 2 Thursday Night, Don Gillespie's 37 Is Medalist

Highland U.P. took over the First U.P. team 4 to 2 last night and also took over the leadership in the New Castle Church golf league second-half by a point and half over the Harbor U.P. team. There are two matches to be played yet at Castle Hills and anything can happen.

Harbor fell by the wayside last night scoring but 2½ points in their match with the Epworth team, having one match forfeited by being short one player. Highland and Harbor each play a tough foe next week and Mahoning is liable to slip into first place.

Don Gillespie Medalist

Don Gillespie recording a sparkling 37 card two over par on the Castle Hills front nine was the medalist last night, with Earl "Spuz" Jarrett and Tapper Jackson having 38 cards. Freddy Broad was in there pitching and turned in a 39 card. St. Mary's To Play Madonna

Play First Of Series For Second Half Catholic Reserve League Title Today

After the Priests Athletic Board meeting in the Catholic center last evening, Rev. Fr. Francis P. King, president of the Lawrence County Catholic Baseball association, announced that a play-off, consisting of three games to determine the winner of the second half of the Catholic Reserve league would begin at Booker T. Washington field at six o'clock this evening when St. Mary's would oppose Madonna.

Each team has lost only one game in the second half.

The winner of this play-off will enter the finals for the Lawrence County Catholic championship by playing a series of three games with St. Monica of Wampum, winner of the first half.

A few weeks prior to that engagement he had participated in a bout in which an ear had been severely pinched. The grapple was "ground" to a pulp and as sore as a boil. Anyone who has had any portion of his body adorned with such a plague readily will agree that a boil is nothing to cheer about.

When his manager got a chance to send a lightweight against Duffy, who, at the time was going good, Tommy piquant puncher and so constituted he cared a little whether the opponent was a sap or a champ, was selected to carry the Dame Brigade banner.

Curtisville Wins From Lewistown

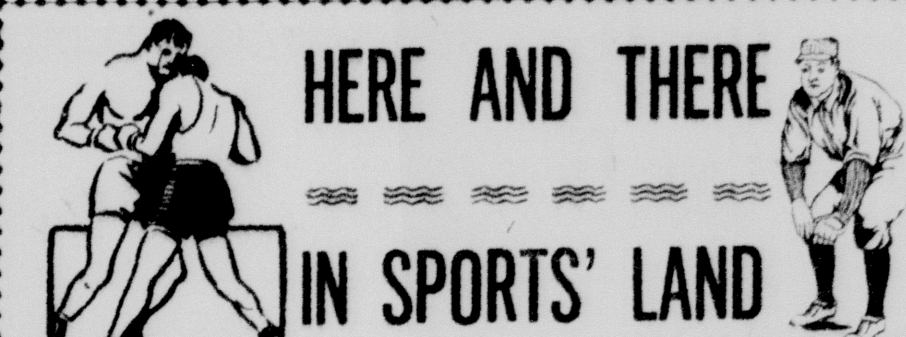

Western Pennsylvania Legion Team Eliminate Eastern Team From Title

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 25.—(INS)—Despite the fine relief hurling of 17-year-old Dale eeper, Lewistown today had lost its opportunity to gain the American Legion's western Pennsylvania title by going down to defeat, 11-2, under a withering three-inning onslaught by Curtisville's defending champs.

The Curtis tied up the game in its early phases by pounding in three runs off Jim Collins in the first inning, one in the second and then driving him from the pitcher's box in the third by scoring six. South paw Leeper then took over and held the Curtis to two hits for the remainder of the game.

Bill Stersek set the visitors down on five scattered hits and fanned 10 batters. By virtue of yesterday's triumph, Curtisville advances to the western Pennsylvania finals, playing the winner of the New Kensington-Sharpville series next week.

Last Tuesday, the Curtis won the first game of their series with Lewistown, 12-3.

TOMMY the Bland was not always thus. Indeed not. To the contrary, he was of that platoon ilk that graces the pugilistic ring and, when he sensed a little kill was in the offing, he exhibited all the lust of one who discovers that the only road to success is over a prostrate opponent. We're talking of Tommy Jones, mild manner lieutenant of police who once earned his cakes exchanging punches at so much per bout.

Tommy deserted the tin mill to enroll under the banner of Jimmie Dime and though he failed to achieve a championship, proved better than fair. Had it not been for a bad ear plus a match piece of matching he may have gone farther. He boxed in the days of McFarland, Welch, Brock, Duffy and other good lightweights. His fall came via a bad ear in a joust with Jimmy Duffy of Lockport at Akron.

Another chap who Tommy will remember is Young Fisher. They fought several times. Fisher was nobody's push-over and neither was Tommy. When they boxed at Dayton and that was several times they always agreed that "if we're both on our feet at the bell it's a draw." They boxed several draws.

One of the most humorous incidents of Tommy's career occurred in Philadelphia one wintry night. While he was fighting someone entered his dressing room and stole his underwear. His manager procured a lot of newspapers and wrapped Tommy's frame in that before he attired for the street.

He later became a "cop." One of his first patrols was in Mahoningtown. Years later he became attached to the traffic division. At present he has the rank of lieutenant, commanding one turn of the police force of this city.

Jimmy McLane, 13, Akron, will bid for the national championships in the A. A. U. water events beginning at Great Lakes today. Youngest merman to win a national senior title he recently won the men's national crown over a four mile course at Williams Lake, Kingston, N. Y. Manager Frank Ruozzo, P. R. Shopen, today reported his team would not play off a second postponed game with the I. A. M. until a decision concerning the first game was rendered. It went less than four innings and according to Ruozzo was called account of rain.

Paperboy was a 17 to 1 shot when he won the $50,000 added Saratoga handicap at Belmont Park, N. Y. Bill Marquis on Bob Fitzsimmons: "He was a blacksmith but was not an expert horseshoer although he could turn 'em out rough."

Coach Ed Dunn has an aggregation of 17 year olds training for Miami U grid berths. Ann Curtis is something besides a blonde. She's a good aquatic performer. She won the 800-meter, 400-meter and 100-meter free style events in the National A. A. U. meet at Kansas City. Incidentally, but probably most important to her, she won a movie contract, too.

Tournament

Indications today point to a very successful first Dubber Dan Day at Castle Hills golf course on Sunday, August 27. Upwards of 100 or more young golfers 16 to 50 will play 18 holes of golf starting at 12 o'clock and enjoy a plate lunch in the grove, adjoining Number 1 Tee-off.

A final meeting of the Under 50 Club committee sponsors of the one-day trolie met last night at the clubhouse with Chairman Charles Ward in charge. Plans for the day were discussed and committee reports heard. A check of tickets shows over 75 sold up to last night with many more expected Sunday.

Going Over Big

The Dubber Dan idea is going over big here in New Castle where the name originated and all the young golfers are looking forward to a pleasant afternoon at Castle Hills course. Several local merchants and business men have donated splendid prizes for the golfers. Andy Paytas is secretary and treasurer of the Dubber Duns and Charles Walker is vice-chairman.

It was announced that tickets can be secured at the Castle Hills course Sunday morning for the event.

Five Grid Stars In Guam Battle

GUAM, Aug. 25—(INS)—Five former college football stars were members of a marine assault unit of the first provincial brigade which made the landing on this enemy-held island.

Among them were First Lieut. Daniel J. McFadden of 40 Chaote road, Belmont, Mass., and Second Lieut. John V. Robinson of 233 Syracuse road, Lexington, Tex. The former played end at Boston college and the latter was quarterback for Kentucky university when those officers met in 1937. B. C. won 6-0.

First Lieut. Richard M. Pihl of 1403 Rankin Drive, Richmond Heights, Mo., led an early wave ashore with the same fire and courage he used to show at right half for the University of Missouri and St. Louis university. First Lieut. Pihl had an offer to play pro football in the National league shortly before he enlisted in the Marine Corps early in 1942.

Two other ex-grid heroes who saw plenty of action were First Lieut. Donald E. Miller of 116 East Third street, Dixon, Ill., former fullback for the University of Wisconsin and the Green Bay Packers, and First Lieut. William L. O'Brien of 221 Highland street, New Haven, Conn., who played with Carroll university of Cleveland, O., in the early 1930's.

Open Second Round In Golf Tourney

CHICAGO, Aug. 25—(INS)—Golfers of both sexes, pros and amateurs, swarmed over the Tam O'Shanter country club course today in the second round of the All-American tournament's three divisions.

The professionals in the dizzy, three-ring spectacle were shooting hopefully at the 7-under-par 65 scored by the big and bulky Johnny Bulla of Atlanta on his first 18 holes.

Bulla, who pilots a plane for a commercial air line when not engaged in his favorite sport, finished with six birdies and three pars across the final nine to equal the tournament course record set in 1941 by Leonard Dodson of Kansas City and equaled in 1942 by Byron Nelson of Toledo.

MANHATTAN BEACH, Cal., Aug. 25—(INS)—Not to every man comes the honor of acquiring a son and grandson within a matter of seconds.

Quickly he trotted down to the telegraph office and sent his own wire: "Mom in hospital, too. Baby boy born last night—too."

"FASHIONS FOR MEN, YOUNG MEN AND BOYS"

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Aug. 25—Unless William Hells has bought some more horses in the last few minutes while nobody was noticing, his investment in thoroughbreds of varying degrees of speed and class is now $750,000 in rough figures. He seems to be bent upon spending at least a million on horses alone, plus another million or so on incidentals such as his lease on the historic Rancocas breeding farm in New Jersey.

To bring the fabulous Greek up to date it need only be pointed out that he entered racing just last year, and undoubtedly is the free-wheeling man with a bankroll that ever hit turndown. Some may have spent more in a longer period, but they were, after all, parlaying their revenue. He has thrown his loose change around over a period of two years, during which his returns have been scarcely more than his daily income from his oil and other enterprises.

Spends Plenty

The first big splash credited to him was the purchase of Attention last year for $55,000. Then he bought the now famous and untired Pericles as a yearling for $66,000, added the Imported Rounders at an unannounced price and only a few days ago picked up Valdivia Orphan for $100,000. Meantime he had added several hundred thousand dollars worth of other horses, mostly yearlings—some of them now at the races—to his string.

Attention, Rounders and Valdivia will head his Rancocas stud, and Pericles and others probably will land there sooner or later. He currently is chasing hither and thither and yon in pursuit of likely mares.

It will take only a short time to determine whether he is to be one of the great and shining successes in the breeding industry or a resounding flop. He scarcely can find any middle ground with such an investment. It must work or he fails. That is, his breeding business fails. He isn't worrying about bankruptcy. His income is reliably estimated at between $45,000 and $65,000 a day. A day is correct, not a week or a month. Every time he steps out in his back yard town there in Louisiana a new oil gusher shoots up and hits him in the face.

He has been criticized at times for so lavishly spending his money, but to this his stock reply has been: "I want to produce the best; I can afford it and that's why I am buying the best I can get."

Fine Breeding Farm

It might be added that once he sets his mind on a horse, nobody else has a chance to out-bid him. That's how he landed Pericles, which has yet to prove whether he actually is a $66,000 beauty or a dime a dozen bust. He should have been to the races already this year, but for one reason and another won't go postward before fall, if then.

Strangely, he selected New Jersey for his breeding farm, instead of landing down in the heart of this business, down where the blue grass grows in Kentucky. However, he explains that he can maintain business interests in New York and still spend much time at Rancocas, only an hour and a half away. Kentucky is off his path.

There is a boom on in breeding interest in Jersey and the result has been a high tariff on his lease at Rancocas; the boom in racing itself has brought the price of horseflesh to an all-time new peak. Hence he has entered the market at a time when a drop must come sooner or later, automatically depreciating his holdings.

WHAT ABOUT YOU?

SCRANTON Pa. — (INS) — Pvt. John McCrone of Scranton, voluntarily spent the first day of his first visit home on a furlough in two years in a hospital. He donated blood for a transfusion.

later, automatically depreciating his holdings. But he doesn't mind; he'll dig another oil well and, meantime, he's having fun.
